Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

Criticism Directed at Way the Flag Is Treated in Decorations

CONSIDERABLE criticism has been phoned to us regarding the manner in which the Flag is being used to decorate our streets.

We have taken this matter up with the Chamber of Commerce officials, the Exposition people and the city manager, with indifferent results.

If the Flag of our country is used to boost a commercial proposition, some respect should be shown towards its use. The flags in question are upside down and at the bottom of strings, with other flags hung above them. The proper officials to right this proposition should be the city management for the granting of permits to hang these flags lies with them. We hope they will be rehung without much more delay, for the way they are now being used puts the city, as a whole, in a wrong light. Let's straighten this matter out.

A COMMITTEE of Eagle Rock citizens met with the Los Angeles board of education yesterday in an effort to secure its aid in influencing the Glendale union high school trustees to accept their children as students in the Glendale high school next year.

Glendale has the kindliest feeling towards Eagle Rock, but out of justice to the rest of the district it would be difficult to accept the children as students. In line with this feeling of neighborliness towards Eagle Rock, the voters of Glendale decided on a site for the high school, which was right at the boundary line. In face of this, Eagle Rock citizens, by their vote to annex to Los Angeles, repudiated interest in the high school and left the indebtedness they had voted to incur to be taken care of by the rest of the district. If the entire cost of educating their children, including the interest on indebtedness, could be allowed, the matter might be looked at in a different light. As it now stands, allowance for each student would fall short of the actual cost nearly $100 per student per school year

Under these conditions, out of justice to those citizens of the territory still remaining in the district, it would be difficult to grant the request of the Eagle Rock parents.

ANNOUNCEMENT today of the purchase of 3½ acres of ground by the Crescent Creamery Co. is indeed gratifying. Development of industrial Glendale is going ahead in a most satisfactory manner. A plant to cost, with the real estate investment, around $630,000, will be erected by this firm. The plant is to be erected on San Fernando road, between Broadway and Harvard.

A short time ago the Los Angeles Creamery Co. purchased approximately four acres near San Fernando road and Park avenue, for the purpose of building a plant.

The acceptance of Glendale as a preferred place to install their plants by the large firms speaks well for us and displays good judgment on their part.

TONIGHT at 8:00 o'clock, the Glendale Industrial Exposition throws its doors open to the public.

The exposition is being housed in a mammoth tent, 100 feet wide and 680 feet long, which is the largest ever pitched in California. A great many of the Glendale merchants have exhibits, which are a credit to our city.

Programs of each day's events will be given in this paper. For the opening night, several out of town speakers have been invited to take part in the exercises.

SWIMMING POOL TO OPEN JUNE 1

The Glendale city plunge in Patterson Park will open on June 1, according to an announcement made by William Wendt, manager of the pool, this morning. After that date it will be open from 8:30 o'clock in the morning until 5 at night.

The charges will be as follows: Children—plunge, 5 cents; towel, 5 cents; suit, 5 cents. Children taking their own suit and towel can use the plunge for 5 cents.

Adults—plunge, 15 cents; towel, 5 cents; suit, 5 cents. Those taking their own suit and towel can use the plunge for 15 cents.

ADVANCEMENT ASSOCIATION SWINGS SOLID MEMBERSHIP BACK OF SEWER PROJECT

Large Delegation to Attend Conference in L. A. on Monday Morning When Los Angeles Councilmen Are to Give Decision on Co-operation

MEMBERS DISCUSS LIGHTING STANDARDS

Combination of Iron Core With Steel Cylinder Is Recommended As Desirable in View of Possible Damage Through Accidents With Autos

At the luncheon meeting of the Glendale Advancement association on Thursday, at which covers were laid for about 30, a large delegation was secured to attend the conference to be held next Monday morning at 10 o'clock with the Los Angeles city council to boost for a trunk line sewer outlet for this city through Los Angeles, which will also serve portions of Los Angeles and outlying suburbs of the San Fernando valley. Those who signified an intention to go were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Mercer, Mrs. Mabel Tight, Thomas H. Addison, H. L. Finlay, P. J. Hayselden, Dr. Jessie Russell, J. F. McClish, F. W. McIntyre, J. E. Caldwell, Mrs. G. F. Flewelling, Dr. Charles Stuart, M. B. Hartman, T. W. Watson, John Lampert, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. W. C. Fraley, Miss Stevens, S. C. Kinch, C. W. Ingledue, Herman Nelson, Arthur T. Lindley, and Mr. Davis.

As the various committees had nothing new to announce, the time usually consumed by their reports was given to C. H. Pendleton of 376 Myrtle street, this city, who was introduced by Mr. Kinch, chairman of the lighting committee. Mr. Pendleton, who represents the Pacific States Electric company, made a most interesting talk on modern lighting standards illustrated by lithographs and photographs.

He described the type endorsed by his company and the General Electric company, which is made by an Ohio concern, and which, in the opinion of those companies represents the maximum of efficiency with the minimum of maintenance and replacement cost. It is a combination of concrete, cast iron post, and shaft of copper-

HIGH GIRL WINS PRIZE FOR DESIGN

Ruth Le Laix Captures First in Bungalow Model Contest

NEIL SHULER, SECOND

Bentley Lumber Company Competition Awakens Keen Interest

A girl, Ruth de Laix, captured the first prize of $35 in the bungalow model contest put on by Bentley Lumber company, in which twenty-seven students of Glendale High have been competing, the other prize winners in their order being:

Neil Shuler, $25.

Fred Jennings, $15.

Marshall Phillippi, $10.

Christian Choate, George Russ and Harold Rhoades, each $5.

Honorable mention was accorded Marguerite Russell and Dugald Blue.

Besides these cash prizes, each of the twenty-seven contestants receives a book of ten tickets of admission to the Merchants' Exposition.

The judges, Architects Alfred F. Priest, J. W. Morrison and Charles R. Selkirk, found it difficult to decide the first and second places as there were several models and floor plans which were exceptionally good.

The bungalow model of the prize winner is of gray plaster exterior with large living room at the right-hand side with partially unroofed patio at the left enclosed by a wall. Across the back of these two rooms are bedroom, dining room and kitchen, with logia in the rear of dining room and a passage way to the right of the dining room connecting a bedroom extending to the rear with the bathroom and the other bedroom. The tiles on the roof of this model were corrugated nails covered with tile colored plaster.

Neil Shuler's model, which won second place, was of dark tan plaster exterior and the tile upon its roof had all been fashioned by slow, patient modeling. At the left hand of the front is a patio from which through a vestibule a large living room is entered. Behind this is a dining room and patio. Across the back are kitchen, breakfast room, and screened porch and at the right hand side a passage leading to two bedrooms and bath room.

Mr. Bentley and the judges complimented the contestants highly on their fine work. One of the plans was original enough to meet

STEEL MEN PREDICT WONDERFUL FUTURE FOR GLENDALE CITY

Host to Business Men on Completion of Plans for the First Six Story Structure in the History of the Community

(By ALBERT MARPLE)

Amidst a burst of orchestral music and a blaze of many lights, about seventy-five of Glendale's representative business men, and officials of the Security Trust and Savings bank accepted, at the chamber of commerce last night, the hospitality of the officials of the Baker Iron Works of Los Angeles. The event was given to celebrate the completion of the plans for the first 6-story steel bank and office building in this city, which will be erected at the corner of Brand and Broadway. The contract for the steel for this building has been awarded to the Baker iron works.

The banquet was marked by good fellowship, brilliant addresses and an admirable spirit of co-operation. Those from Los Angeles assured the local residents that they are with Glendale in anything along the advancement line that she may attempt, while those of the "home town" declared that a closer co-operation between the two cities is entirely to the liking of the people of Glendale.

The keynote of the evening was struck by Councilman Horn, whose duty it was to extend the "glad hand" to this constructional concern that is just breaking into Glendale. He said:

"Glendale has no latchstrings and no closed door—at least I have been unable to find one. There is a combination that the newcomer must know, however, before he can get in. He must realize that this is always in force. I am going to tell it to you and you may pass it on to the world. It is just one word—WELCOME!

"I take keen pleasure in extending the welcome of Glendale to the officers and representatives of the Baker Iron works and the Security Trust and Savings bank. We are trying to build a beautiful city here—a beautiful city of homes, from the level stretches to the wonderful hillsides. We are soon to have a beautiful hotel at the corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway, and possibly another at the corner of Brand and California. We are endeavoring to keep the standards of the Glendale home high.

"I want to express the gratification of this city to you for your confidence in Glendale to the extent that you will erect here this city's first 6-story building. I know it will be a wonderful structure. We are always ready and willing to do everything we can to assist you."

H. S. Hitchcock, vice-president and treasurer of the Baker Iron Works, was toastmaster of the evening.

"We, of the Baker iron works, are not speakers, but actors," sai

BIG TOP IS HUMAN HIVE OF ACTIVITY

Last Touches to Booths Are Being Applied for Tonight

BOOTHS ARE CLEVER

Big Reception to Precede Opening, Changed to 8 o'Clock

There's a human bee hive in town.

Since early this morning the big tent on Brand, between Lexington and Doran, has been swarming with workers. Two hundred and fifty of them have been hammering, sawing, painting, arranging, adjusting, "dolling up," with the result that everything is about ready for the reception of the crowd that will pass through the main entrance tonight.

Some of the merchants have been putting the finishing touches to their displays, others have been adding additional features, still others have been rearranging the things they will exhibit.

Most of the booths are works of art—they are more than ordinary exhibits. Expert beautifiers have been engaged to do the scenic work. Everything that could possibly add to the attractiveness of the booths will have been done before the show opens at 8 o'clock tonight.

The time for the formal opening of the exposition has been changed from 7 until 8 o'clock. The visiting speakers will meet with the reception committee at the chamber of commerce at 7:45 o'clock instead of 6:30, and after brief introductions will go in a body to the big tent.

Glendale's greatest merchant exposition will start with a burst of music and will continue with increasing interest and enthusiasm until the closing moment. Special events prepared for each afternoon and evening promise to keep things humming merrily along.

HIGH SCHOOL TO SHOW WORK AT EXPOSITION

Toothsome Things From Domestic Science and Other Creations

It is requiring some fine management to find space for the beautiful exhibits prepared by students in special departments of Glendale high in the limited area of the booth reserved for the school, but they make a beautiful showing nevertheless.

From manual arts have been sent some fine specimens of drafting by students under Mr. Lockwood.

Domestic science students under the instruction of Miss Ellen Hanson will be represented by a beautiful pyramid of canned fruits and vegetables, marmalade, jellies, jams, pickles, etc.

The sewing department under Miss Wilhelmina Hobush is providing some beautiful examples of needlework and design in gingham, linen and voile dresses made by girls in the beginning classes; silk gowns, made over problems, and junior problems by students in the advanced classes. There will be a model layette, and the millinery class will have an exhibit of spring and summer hats, and of children's hats which will be changed from day to day to afford the greater variety. Miss Hobush states that the enrollment in the millinery classes this year is four times that of last year and that the pre-enrollment indicates six beginning classes will have to be provided for next fall. There are about 180 students in the entire department now.

Miss Abbott, head of the art department, said the aim of the exhibit from her department had been to provide one or two pieces of work from each of the classes in drawing, designing, commercial art, costume designing, applied arts and modelling. She stated there would also be several batiks in the show cases.

This work has had to be gotten ready while students were in the final rush of preparing Stylus cuts, for which Friday is the last day.

ACCEPTANCE OF STORE TO STORE IDEA IS FIRST IN PATRON-MERCHANT COOPERATION

Final Decision As to Desirability of Monday's Shopping to Be Given by the People of the City on May Twenty-eighth Through Mere Visit to the Stores Advertising

The general acceptance of the store-to-store Monday shopping exposition in Glendale introduces the first element of co-operation in the relations of Glendale folks with their merchants that has developed.

It is true that the idea is not original, that it has demonstrated its success elsewhere, but the presentation of any idea newly in any community has all the dangers of failure without the tradition of success that has been demonstrated elsewhere.

An idea carried to a success elsewhere might fail here, should it lack the support of the merchants themselves, should they not bend energy to present it to the fullest, in stocks, in efficiency and in enthusiasm.

It would fail completely should the people of the city, the great silent body which makes or breaks the trade center of any city by its cold importial judgment on its merchants, vote against Monday shopping, by failure to appear at the stores of the city that have enlisted to establish one buying day a week.

Failure to buy is not the criterion of success or failure. For if Glendalians fail to make purchases on Monday, the first in what is hoped to be a weekly event in Glendale, the inaction may have a dozen explanations. Their failure to appear has but one.

The great problem in a city such as Glendale, where there are many

Swap Complex Is Sweeping Through the Realty Market Here

A "Swap" complex is at the present time sweeping the Glendale real estate market.

Everybody wants to swap, but few are swapping because they don't know who to swap with and what to swap for.

Real values are poised on the portals of local agencies waiting for Mr. Opportunity to come along and knock them off.

Are you looking for a "Swapper?"

Then read and use the Press "SWAP" columns. Therein you will find, not the fabulous, "Swap the earth for the moon" opportunities, but staple, profitable bargains wherein you can invest with the assurance of profit and security for yourself.

CRESCENT CREAMERY PLANT HERE

Los Angeles Company to Put Up Big Plant in Glendale

Making preparations for what is said to be the largest plant for milk distribution and the manufacture of ice cream on the Pacific coast, the Crescent Creamery of Los Angeles closed a deal today in Glendale, it was officially announced, representing $130,000 in real estate, and involving plans for a $500,000 plant to be located at 175 South San Fernando road, where the company has purchased three and one-half acres.

Glendale's proverbial growth during the past years proved a convincing argument in the consummation of this deal, it was stated, officials of the company having investigated the possibilities in every city within a reasonable distance of the present main plant in Los Angeles. The property where the plant is to be located, was purchased through B. F. Bourne, representing the Crescent Creamery here during their search for a location. The site was owned by Fox-Woodsum Co. and R. Kent, and was considered one of the choicest sites in the industrial section of Glendale.

Aside from this purchase, the officials of the company, after investigating the residential possibilities of Glendale and vicinity, also purchased twelve lots in the Wernette & Sawyer tract, to be used as residence locations for employes of the company. D. M. Doran, president of the State Dairymen's association, and one of the managers of the company, was most enthusiastic over the situation found to exist in this territory. He made the statement that the sick payroll of the company, which now employs 3500 people, would pay for the land which was purchased, due to the fact that the location is so much healthier than those offered in the vicinity of the Los Angeles site.

The Crescent company recently purchased the corner of Slauson avenue and Vermont in Los Angeles, where another manufacturing plant, verging on a valuation of $1,000,000 when completly equipped, is to be built.

When the Glendale plant is com-

GLENDALE AVENUE OWNERS ATTACK STABLE

Tell City Council It Is Time That It Was Moved Away

The property owners on Glendale avenue feel that it is time for the livery stable on that thoroughfare to move. In other words, it is an eye-sore, a menace, a dangerous fire hazard and everything else that is undesirable.

A petition asking that this structure be declared a nuisance and moved was filed with the city council Thursday night. It was worded as follows:

"Inasmuch as the livery stable located at 120 North Glendale avenue is and has been for a number of years a disgrace and a detriment to the community as well as a menace to the public health and a dangerous fire hazard, we, the interested property owners respectfully petition your honorable body to declare the above-named building a menace and nuisance and order the owner, C. W. Ingledue, to remove the same at the earliest possible moment."

This was signed by Mable L. Tight, Charles E. Stanley, P. J. Hayselden, H. L. Finlay, William Soper, Dr. A. J. Stevens, W. C. Fraley, C. J. Newcomb, C. R. Norton, C. C. Morton, Ambrosini & Co., Mrs. W. E. Wilburn, Mrs. Mary V. Turner, Mrs. E. G. Marlett, Mrs. S. E. Logie, Henry Johnson, F. W. McIntyre, Mrs. W. B. and Nellie B. Campbell.

Map of Tract No. 6628 was approved at this meeting.

A petition was received asking that Winchester, from San Fernando to Glenwood, be improved with 3-inch macadam, curb and water pipe, and the initial step in this work was ordered taken.

A petition asking that Garfield and Windsor east of Verdugo road be opened and improved was received and the matter was referred to the committee of the whole.

As there were no protests against the setting aside of Central avenue, Park to Cypress, as a commercial district, the city attorney was instructed to draw up the necessary amendment to the zoning ordinance

There were no protests against the changing of the grade on Colorado street and the next step in this work was ordered taken.

No protests were received against the improvement of Wing

SCHOLARSHIP CONCERT IS BIG SUCCESS

Auditorium of Tuesday Clubhouse Is Well Filled

People of Glendale responded heartily to the benefit concert which was given last night in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse for the scholarship fund of the Glendale Music Club, by which promising young Glendale artists may secure assistance in continuing their musical education.

The solo artists appearing on the program included Charles Wakefield Cadman, pianist-composer; Margaret Messer Morris, soprano; Carl Gantvoort, baritone; and Hazel Linkogel, violinist. As Mr. Gantvoort had received a telegram stating that he was to appear in a concert at San Francisco tonight it was necessary to change the program somewhat in order that he might make connections. The numbers presented by him were "Roadways" (John Densmore), "Goin' Home," negro melody (Herman Gantvoort), and "Requiescat" (Cadman). As an encore number he gave Cadman's "Memories." Mr. Gantvoort was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Cadman.

Assisting the solo artists of the evening numbers were given by the high school orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Dora Gibson, which played "March and Procession," Ballet Sylvia (Delibes), and "Waltz of the Flowers" (Tchaikowsky). The high school Girls' Glee Club under the direction of Mrs. Charles Parker, also presented two delightful numbers, "Will o' the Wisp" (Spross) and "Lullaby" (Lieurance). The mixed quartet of the Glendale Junior Music Club, which includes Gertrude Heideman, soprano; Winifred Parker, contralto; Claude Whitfield, tenor; and Ervin Carver, bass; displayed unusual talent in their presentations of "By the Waters of Minnetonka" (Lieurance) and "Awake! Awake!" (Cadman). As an encore number they gave "I Love a Lassie."

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music Club, gave a short talk explaining the scholarship fund. Miss Hazel Linkogel, talented young Glendale

Banking Service Meeting Local Needs

TIME was when industrial concerns in the smaller communities, unable to find adequate accommodation locally, were compelled to go to banks in larger cities, where lack of understanding of their problems and operations made it difficult to secure the co-operation desired.

Local business need no longer seek financial connections elsewhere. The vast aggregate resources of the Pacific-Southwest Banking System are being used to develop the various communities it is serving. Here is a bank with understanding and ability to serve this district to the limits defined by conservative, yet progressive, banking practice.

CENTRAL AVE. OUT FOR BIG BETTERMENTS

New Association Pledged to Better Lights and Pavement

GUTHRIE, PRESIDENT

Wants Six Inches Thickness From San Fernando to Broadway

Stephen Packer, chairman; Sherman Bond and Charles Marshall, named as the lighting committee of the Central Avenue Improvement Association, organized at a meeting held in the offices of Charles B. Guthrie Wednesday night, are beginning to get busy on the same problems that are agitating the Glendale Advancement Association relative to the lighting of East Broadway and of Glendale avenue and Colorado.

After the company which numbered about sixty men interested in the improvement of Central avenue had elected Mr. Guthrie president, and Charles Marshall, secretary, it committed itself to three propositions, viz., to the circulation of a petition to pave the avenue with six-inch concrete asphaltum from Broadway to San Fernando; to establish an ornamental lighting district from San Fernando north to the wash and possibly to Kenneth Road; and third, to open and widen the street to 100 feet by condemnation proceedings.

Not an expression of dissent was heard to any of these propositions and the association seems to have been launched as an enthusiastic unit for improvement, all the members being residents of Central avenue or interested in property values there.

U. S. AIR SERVICE TO AID MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

A big boost to Glendale's Memorial Day exercises has been given by the U. S. Air Service Reserve through Capt. A. F. Herold at Clover Field, Santa Monica.

The committee has been in communication with Capt. Herold for several days, and received the report this morning that a squadron of six government airplanes will be sent over to participate in the exercises at Forest Lawn Memorial park the afternoon of May 30.

The planes will appear in formation and follow the parade to the symbolic grave where flowers will be strewn from the air.

Capt. Herold, in a letter to R. E. Tucker of Community Service, expresses his interest in the program and his desire to co-operate in making it a success.

Ferber's Department Store Makes Unique Exposition Offer

(By JENNIE SWENSON)

If someone will kindly page the bride and bridegroom, everything will be set for the most elaborate wedding ceremony with the widest attendance ever to be witnessed in Glendale, as the date is set, the bridal costume has been chosen, the bride's attendants are prepared to perform their function in the affair, and a prominent clergyman has promised to perform the ceremony, pronouncing the benediction of the entire city upon their heads.

It has come about through the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition, and the wedding invitation, which is unique and unprecedented, is extended to the bride and bridegroom by the guests, instead of the usual manner.

Arrangements have been made for the ceremony to take place on Wednesday night, when Ferber's fashion revue is shown. Ferber's department store is offering a beautiful crystal beaded white georgette dress and a $20 merchandise order to the bride, aside from furnishing the bride's bouquet- retinue, and in fact, everything except the bridegroom-elect.

The only qualification is that both must be good looking and residents of Glendale. Candidates may learn all the particulars at the Ferber department store, 108 South Brand, between today and Wednesday.

Now, when the fortunate couple appears, it is highly probable that one of the well-known men's furnishings establishments will provide the necessary dress suit. Wouldn't it be a coincidence if the bride should prove to be the winner of the hope chest which the American Legion Auxiliary has prepared, little expecting that such an opportune occasion should arise?

It would not come amiss, either, should the bridegroom prove to be the winner of the Maxwell, for the young couple will doubtless appreciate a new and shiny means of locomotion. Then there is the gas range offered by the Good Housekeeping Shop, which might just as well be claimed by the bride-elect, if Cupid shoots his "lucky" arrow from the start.

The hall has not yet been told, for practically every concession at the exposition is registering keen interest in the sensational announcement. Throngs are expected to be present Wednesday night, and according to those who are issuing this invitation, the newlyweds' ship of matrimony will be given the greatest christening in the history of the high seas.

Now, as to the age. The Daily Press has had no authoritative word on this, so it has been concluded that there is no age-limit. Only in the case of those upon whom old age hangs heavily, marring the charm and beauty of more youthful days, the judges will use their discretion.

MEXICAN CONSUL ATTENDS ROTARY MEETING

Jack Huntley Reported to Be Out of Danger and Recovering

Senor Garza Leal, Mexican consul, was the speaker at the regular noon-day luncheon meeting of the Glendale Rotary club yesterday, his subject being on the Mexican government. The meeting was very enthusiastic and well attended. Gil Cowan, who has been absent for some time, has returned to Glendale and was present at the meeting.

The secretary announced that so far this month all meetings had been attended 100 percent. Among the visiting Rotarians were Bill Kilgore of Los Angeles, Jerome B. Pendleton of San Diego, G. Spencer Shimmire of Los Angeles, and Y. Waldrop of Tempe, Arizona, and other visitors. Presley Hatch, the newest member, was officially welcomed into the Rotary club by Roy Kent.

William Howe introduced Joseph Reddy, special representative of Harold Lloyd, who announced a preview of "Oh! My Heart," which was shown last night. Roy Kent reported that the Haynes Canyon Boy Scout camp was progressing in a satisfactory manner.

It was announced that Jack Huntley had passed the critical stage and would without doubt recover from injuries received while horseback riding last week, when he was thrown from the horse.

Gil Cowan was called upon to tell of his experiences while away, but begged off on account of having a cold.

VARSITY EXAMINER VISITS THE HIGH

Dr. Noble, examiner of the California State University, was a guest at Glendale High Thursday and visited a number of classes. At the office he reported he had found the school one of the strongest he has visited, that he had no suggestions to make, and would have no criticisms to report to the university, his finding being "A 1."

Dr. Noble was in Glendale years ago and was amazed at the changes he observed. He was taken to see the new high school plant and as a school man was very favorably impressed. When he was told the short time during which it had been under construction he considered the progress made little short of a miracle.

bearing steel which is rust resistant, with the light brackets and glass in parts which can be replaced at the minimum of cost. He stressed the flexibility of the standard, the shaft of which might be bent or dented by the impact of an automobile but which could be recrimped and straightened at a cost which the company guaranteed would not exceed $3, as opposed to the replacement cost of a post which would break and be a complete wreck requiring entire replacement.

He discoursed on the urn type of globe with its canopy and domed refraction which puts 80 percent of the light on the street, only 20 percent being lost. He also exhibited the lantern design adopted for Hollywood boulevard which has been made equally efficient in delivering light and in which the replacement cost of a broken pane is reduced to a few cents as compared with the urn globe expense of about $7.50.

Members were anxious to know whether the present standards on Broadway and Brand could be converted into those described. Mr. Pendleton indicated that it might be done by slipping the steel shaft over the present cast iron post and utilizing the present underground cable system at an approximate cost of $1.25 per foot. For new installation it would cost approximately $2.75 to $3, he indicated.

As to distance apart, that would depend somewhat on the light used, and he stated his company is recommending a spacing of 125 feet for posts 17-6 feet high placed opposite each other with 25c candle-power lamps. In a residence district with a single light, they might be stagged.

He indicated the daylight effect of the lantern globes is prettier than the urns, but seemed to prefer the latter at night although the lanterns had been selected as most artistic by Hollywood. He urged that one design be adopted which could be carried out over the entire city for both single and double lights.

Don't forget that a badly kept lavatory or bathroom is a danger to everybody in any home. It should once a week be washed with water, to which a little carbolic or other disinfectant has been added, while a disinfectant should occasionally be poured down the pipes, more especially during the summer months.

Crescent Creamery Comes to Glendale

pleted, it will mount much higher than the cost of the New Los Angeles plant. It is estimated that an additional 3500 employes will be necessary to this tremendous institution, according to the scale of increase in production.

Beginning the first of the month, a milk distributing plant will be established on the San Fernando site, the company making use of the buildings already located there, until the new building is completed. The main offices of the Crescent Creamery company will be moved to Glendale, it was also announced.

Construction is planned to start as soon as plans have been completed. Two years will be consumed before the plant is entirely finished and equipped.

This deal has been under negotiation for the past three weeks, it was learned today. The Crescent Creamery company had been looking for a suitable location, as the growth of the business made the demand acute.

Mr. Bourne was notified that the Crescent Creamery company desired a "few lots to put a few horses and wagons on," in order to establish a milk distributing plant. Mr. Bourne brought the officials to Glendale, showed them the industrial sites, and then took them on a tour through the new residential districts, showing them the remarkable development of this district. As a consequence, the officials were satisfied that Glendale was the place for their new plant, and the negotiations for the desired property were started at once.

The officials are of the belief, according to Mr. Bourne, that the Glendale plant will occupy the central position of the territory served by the Crescent Creamery by the time the new plant is completed. Distributing plants have also been established at Alhambra, San Bernardino and Anaheim, but the proposed Glendale plant will be the largest, according to present plans.

BIG DOUBLE BILL OPENS TONIGHT AT THE T. D. & L.

Douglas MacLean had to prove his nerve as well as his skill as a comedian during the filming of "Bell Boy 13," Thomas H. Ince's latest comedy farce, which will be shown at the T., D. & L. Theatre tonight and tomorrow. It will share the bill with Will Rogers in "Fruits of Faith."

In the role of a young bond broker who turns bell hop when his uncle disinherits him, MacLean pulled several novel stunts that lend thrills as well as laughs to this original farce.

When the young chap in the story is locked up by his uncle to prevent him from eloping, he calls out the fire department, borrows the chief's car and drives at breakneck speed through the city, trying to catch the train on which his sweetheart is leaving. A fire run actually was staged, with the cooperation of the fire department of Los Angeles, which is said to have broken all speed records. MacLean needed all his skill as a driver and plenty of nerve besides to make his way through the traffic of the crowded streets of Los Angeles without killing some one or wrecking the car of the fire chief, which he was driving.

After a man marries he soon gets rid of the idea that he is the whole show.

SCHOLL CANYON MURDERER NOW ON BORDER

Man Wanted for Killing George Hermann, Reported at Mexicali

[By Associated Press]

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—Tod Spencer, wanted in connection with the killing of George Herman at Glendale yesterday, was believed to be on the way to the Mexican border at Mexicali, according to a report received at the sheriff's office here today from officers of San Bernardino county. Spencer disappeared after Herman was shot to death in a grading camp, taking with him Joe Todd and C. R. Birmingham, camp workmen. Todd and Birmingham were found last night at Colton, San Bernardino county. They said Spencer forced them to accompany him in an automobile which broke down at Riverside, after which the party separated.

MONDAY SHOPPING IS CO-OPERATIVE DEVELOPMENT HERE

strangers, is that of establishing relation trading centers with patrons.

A community which does not know personally its merchants is without a complete knowledge of itself.

The sales, big or little, can wait perhaps until next week. Time enough. Recognition of the effort merchants are putting forth in this store to store shopping exposition—that cannot wait. There is nothing so disheartening as an honest, sincere effort put forth in anticipation of co-operation and appreciation of at least the effort—that meets with no receptive word of sympathy. It is much the feeling of a man losing his train to buy his wife a present and meeting a frown at home. He at least can ditch the present. The merchant, after all the effort made to make Monday a great day for Glendale and its people, can only pack away his display and resume his study of how best to serve patrons some other way.

Just as every movement must have its instigator, and every instigator his support among associates, so the inauguration of the Monday shoping day in Glendale has its history of pioneers and pioneering.

The endless round of activity that such a venture entails on the part of merchants, advertising agents and press representatives is all deserving of notice, but to the man who undertook to start the wheels of action belongs much credit. This man is Richard H. Smith, manager of Pendroy's department store.

Mr. Smith comes to Glendale from Pasadena. During his stay in Pasadena, with one of the leading department stores, Mr. Smith assisted materially with the inauguration of just such a venture. The success was more than had been anticipated by any of the merchants whao gave their support. Believing firmly that Glendale would reap the same benefit that Pasadena reaped through the establishment of Monday as the big shopping day of the week, Mr. Smith began his work of discussing the matter with merchants here and there in the city.

He found a ready spirit of co-operation among them. All agreed that, should the Monday shopping day prove a success, Glendale would be the better for it. Finding that the Glendale Press was ready to carry out these ideas which had grown to a topic of discussion among merchants wherever they met for exchanging ideas, Mr. Smith was among the first to affiliate himself with the campaign which was announced in the columns of the Press during the first of the week.

As a consequence, merchants all over Glendale are talking values. There is more discussion of prices to be offered and all at one offering, than has ever been known to occur in the city.

But with all of the preparation and enthusiasm on the part of the dealers here, it remains the lot of the residents to decide the success of the issue. The merchants and the Glendale Press are not expecting to make a success alone. Co-operation in pushing the business development of Glendale, through showing the actual purchasing power of a dollar, has given the campaign the impetus which it has received up to the present time.

It isn't as if Glendale were pioneering in a new field. The Monday shopping day is a recognized feature of the buying and selling occurrences in such cities as Long Beach, Santa Monica, Venice, Ocean Park, Pasadena and last but not least, Los Angeles.

The Monday shopping day for Glendale simply means that the city has adopted a system of unifying buying, that has proven successful elsewhere. It means that Mrs. Housewife will be able to set aside Monday as her shopping day.

The systematic housekeeper, it is found, invariably sets aside one day in the week for some particular big task. Washing, ironing, cleaning and the various duties that befall the housewife's lot, each has a separate day. To be able to do all of her shopping, which every woman will admit, is one of the most difficult tasks, ordinarily in one day, is going to mean endless convenience to the housewife.

The habit of studying the Saturday shopping sheet published in the Glendale Press will become as natural to her as the preparation of the evening meal. No one preparing to make a journey of any length would think of doing so without first consulting the railroad map. So it is with the buyer. The Glendale Press on Saturdays will offer a map of the "buy paths" blazed by the Glendale merchants.

Slick Operators Work in Glendale

The police records of yesterday and this morning showed little of a sensational character.

A. Petterson, 444 West Los Feliz, left at the station a worthless check for $20, which had been passed on him and which the department referred to city detectives.

Mrs. H. Berquist of 3151 Casitas avenue reported the purchase of two chairs from men driving a gray truck. In paying them she removed her purse from a Boston bag which she left on the sidewalk. When she turned to pick it up the bag was gone.

The department is holding Fred V. Webb for Sheriff Fox of Los Angeles.

L. M. Reynolds reported that his house was entered Wednesday afternoon and a box of shells taken.

Central Station of Los Angeles telephoned it had the Ford car stolen Wednesday night from C. W. Wilson.

Mr. Woods of the auto theft department reported that Frank Jedlick's Ford roadster had been found in Baldwin Hills near the large "57" in the hill on the way to Venice.

Harry Bender, who stole a typewriter and an adding machine from the Oakmont Country Club, and other typewriters in Glendale which he sold in Riverside, receiving a check, and who was arrested in Pomona in a bank just after he had cashed the check and brought back to Glendale, was remanded to jail by Judge Lowe under $5000 bail and is to be lodged in the county jail until his preliminary hearing set by Judge Lowe for June 8 at 2 p. m.

FORD TEAM WINS FROM CITY HALL

Jesse Smith's Ford Agency baseball team met defeat last night at the hands of the City Employees baseball nine in a practice game held last night at the high school diamond by a score of 20 to 19. There were seven innings played and the game was a close contest all the way through, creating a great deal of excitement.

R. E. Tucker, Community Service executive, states that there have been eight teams entered in the league and that there will be another week of practice games before a regular schedule is worked out, so there is yet an opportunity for other teams to enter the league.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Sherman of 316 West Lexington drive, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman's mother, Mrs. H. R. Gibbs, have returned from a two weeks motor trip to San Francisco.

GLENDALE P. T. A. ELECTS OFFICERS

Mrs. Stradling Is Made President; Reports on Work

Election of officers of the Glendale avenue Parent-Teacher Association took place at the regular meeting of that organization on Thursday afternoon, which was the last to be held this school year. After the meeting had opened with the salute to the flag and singing of "America" the school orchestra, led by Miss Brenneman, played "Dancing Dolls" and "Azure Skies." The following officers were then elected: Mrs. Stradling, president; Mrs. Martinez, vice-president; Mrs. Crizer, secretary; Mrs. Newton, treasurer; Mrs. Strong, historian; Mrs. Morgan, auditor.

Annual reports were given by the executive board and committee chairmen. Mrs. Bogen told of the district congress of mothers which was held in Los Angeles last month. Howard Rettberg and Melville Walker of the graduating class, addressed the members and announced a vaudeville show to be given at the high school the afternoon and evening of May 26 to raise money for the class gift.

Mrs. Fox, courtesy chairman, told of the federation picnic to be held June 13 at Brookside Park, Pasadena.

The speaker of the afternoon was Raymond Dunlap, who spoke on "Child Welfare." He also recited some original poems, which were very much enjoyed. Mrs. Wm. Wattles, retiring president, made a very gracious speech to her associates and retired in favor of Mrs. Stradling, who responded with an appropriate talk. Mrs. H. W. Bogen, in behalf of the executive board, presented Mrs. Wattles with a pottery jar, filled with flowers as a token of appreciation for her work as president.

Norman Whytock, principal of the Glendale avenue Intermediate school, addressed the association, congratulating it on the successful work accomplished and thanking the members for their co-operation. On next Monday night the Glendale Avenue Intermediate will hold a night session in order that the parents may have an opportunity to see how the classes are held.

FIRST FEMALE PLATE DUSTER

[By Associated Press]

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—The baseball umpirette has arrived, and her name is Miss Nina Belle Hurst. Miss Hurst, it is stated, is the only girl umpire officially licensed to wield the whiskbroom on the home platter in the Southern Baseball Managers' Association. At a recent meeting of the organization at which more than 150 clubs were represented, covering territory from San Diego to Santa Barbara, her application was approved.

A group of officials were examining a mine where the only method of travel was the primitive rope and bucket. When they had finished their explorations they were hauled up in this bucket two at a time.

As the last was ascending, with a miner as fellow passenger, he noticed unmistakable symptoms of frailty in the rope.

"How often do you change your ropes?" he inquired when about half way from the bottom of the awful abyss.

"We change them every three months, sir," replied the miner, "and we'll change this one tomorrow if we get up safe."

HIGH GIRL WINS FIRST PRIZE FOR BUNGALOW DESIGN

a need the company had been unable to fill although it has over 3000 plans on file.

The Manual Arts Department of Glendale High will have at the Merchants' Exposition in the booth reserved for the high school, some fine specimens of drafting by classes under Mr. Lockwood, but one of its main exhibits will be the model bungalows in the space assigned to the Bentley Lumber company, which are certain to attract visitors to their booth. The prize designs will be exhibited.

Some time ago this company offered prizes for floor plan tracings and models of bungalows of Spanish type, single or two-story, of six to eight rooms, to contain not less than 1400 square feet nor more than 2000, the contest to be limited to students in Glendale High and prizes to be awarded by judges selected by the Bentley Lumber company.

Thursday was the final day and saw about 27 beautiful models on display in the drafting department on which a corps of judges which would include Architect Alfred Priest were to pass that night.

They were beautiful specimens of handicraft, made to scale, and attractively tinted, some of plaster of paris, some of modelling clay, some of wood, covered with paint or stucco.

All called for tiled roofs which had been cunningly worked out with a variety of materials. One painstaking contestant had modeled his in clay. Some had used corrugated paper painted to simulate tile. One, a girl—Ruth de Laix, was using corrugated nails deftly inserted in the clay.

The making of the bungalow model did not end the task for most students had provided a setting which enhanced their work. Some had been content with the painting of the board on which it was placed a grass green. Others had used sawdust, stained green. Eloene Truitt had resorted to cotton wool stained green, and these lawns were beautified with trees and shrubbery, for the most part made of rubber sponge painted in the proper colors. Feather grass had been made to do the same service.

One ambitious architect and builder had installed an aerial for a wireless. There were some very pretty examples of the true mission style, and nearly all had used the quarter inch as their scale or basis of measurement.

The list of contestants who were in at the finals as reported by Mr. Lockwood, head of the department, included: Wilbur Bettis, Frank Galpin, Fred Jennings, Carl Denney, Ruth de Laix, Erven Jensen, Henry Grace, Vernon Boon, Glen Gardiner, Frank Lee, Dave Swaney, Eugene Wernette, Christian Choate, Eloene Truitt, Dugald Blue, Harold Rhoades, Daisy Whitesell, Dave Griffith, Marshall Phillippi, William Calvert, Marguerite Russell, Charles Bosserman, Neil Shuler, Charles Manbert, and two who were partners in the task—Joe Stephens and Radcliffe Clausen.

BENEFIT CONCERT FOR SCHOLARSHIP IS BIG SUCCESS artist member of the Junior Music Club, is to be the first to benefit by this new division of the music club work. Miss Linkogel is to go to Chicago and compete for a scholarship in violin under Leopold Auer, one of the world's master instructors. She will join contestants from practically every state in the union. In the event that Miss Linkogel should not win this scholarship she will try again in the fall for a permanent scholarship. Mrs. Cadman, mother of Charles Wakefield Cadman, was introduced by Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Jones then turned the program over to the other artists of the evening, who presented the following numbers: "Legende" (Wieniawski), and "Sonata No. 6" (Bach), violin solos by Miss Hazel Linkogel, accompanied at the piano by Henry Grace, pupils of Mrs. Pearl Curran. The unusual talent of Miss Linkogel was displayed in these numbers, which were very enthusiastically received by the audience. With her sure bowing she brought forth vigorous, yet beautifully soft, tones from her beloved instrument.

The violin numbers were followed by a group of songs by Margaret Messer Morris, accompanied at the piano by Mr. Cadman, including "I, a Nightingale" (Cadman), "The Moon-Heaven" (Cadman), which had its premier presentation last night, and "Spring Song of the Robin Woman" from "Shanewis" (Cadman). As an encore number Miss Morris sang the ever-popular "At Dawning" (Cadman). Mr. Cadman gave the next group of piano numbers, which were from "The Prairie Sketches" of his composition and included "Dawn," "Legend of the Plains" and "Sounds of the Night." As a request number Mr. Cadman played "The Caravan,' taken from his "Omar Kahyyam" suite.

The closing number on the program was a group of violin numbers by Miss Linkogel, "Deep River" (Coleridge-Taylor), "Caprice Viennois" (Kreisler) and "Concerto' (No. 7, 1st Movement), by De Beriot. In the concerto number Miss Linkogel displayed unusual technique and artistic fire. Her encore number, "The Rosary,' left no doubt in the minds of her hearers that Miss Linkogel was indeed an artist of whom they might well be proud to have represent Glendale at the try-outs in Chicago.

The annual banquet of the Glendale Music Club will be held on June 29. Mrs. Jones announced the membership campaign which is being planned by the Glendale Music Club and urged those already members to renew their membership and also to secure additional members for the organization.

Indications point to the fact that during the next club year the members of the Glendale Music Club are to have the most successful season in the history of that organization. Already plans are under way for a membership drive which it is hoped to begin next week in order that the executive board of the organization may know definitely what they have to work on in arranging programs for the coming season.

The concerts next year are to be held in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon Club and according to Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president, it is the desire of the board to secure some eastern, as well as Californian, artists to present to the members.

At the scholarship fund benefit concert announcement was made that patron memberships had been secured from the following without any solicitation: Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Rigdon, Mrs. Percy Priaulx, Mrs. Helen Campbell, Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Miss Myrtle Baldwin, Mrs. Frank Arnold and Mrs. Dora Gibson, which will add $100 to the treasury. The patron memberships are $10 per year and will entitle the holder to two season membership tickets, to be used for family or guests. New members will be admitted to the club without initiation fee at $5 per year, and those already members of the organization may renew their membership for the present rate of $4 per year.

The club officers aim to have a very good report to present to the members at the annual banquet and program on June 29. Committees will be selected and the campaign drive begin next week. As it is necessary that the artists for the coming year be secured many months in advance it is essential that the money be in the treasury as soon as possible.

ANNOUNCEMENT

THE PIANO EXCHANGE

of California has opened a branch in Glendale, having taken over the So. Calif. Gas Co. property at 112 W. Broadway, where they will carry on a regular PIANO CLEARING HOUSE business.

WHAT IS THE PIANO EXCHANGE and how does it differ from the regular Music Dealer?

We will try to explain. In the large cities and suburbs the constant and ever-increasing changes of the home life throw on the market and in the warehouses, to be disposed of later, thousands of Pianos, all makes, styles and grades.

The PIANO EXCHANGE appraises these instruments at a fair value, passes them through a first class shop, removing all imperfections, and then offers them to the buying public at about one-half the original price, providing they are only slightly used and would pass for new, and if older and of less value, at a corresponding price. Pianos have been sold as low as $10, $25 and $50. Many that will render splendid service for many years are sold between $100 and $200. THE PIANO EXCHANGE offers the same inducements in the way of terms, guarantees and follow-up attentions after delivery as other Piano Merchants.

OUR MISSION IN GLENDALE

We are first, last and always Piano Dealers, having been in the business of jobbing and retailing Pianos and Musical Instruments in a large way for nearly half a century, hence we are experts in our line.

If you are looking for some favorite make and do not find it at the Glendale branch, have the manager call up our large warerooms at Los Angeles, where we will probably have just what you want. If you anticipate buying later, call and get acquainted with our plan. You will receive courteous treatment.

MR. FRANK E. BROWN, an officer of the company, is now a resident of Glendale, and will devote his entire time to the management of this branch. He is a thorough Piano man and will be able to meet the public on any proposition arising peculiar to the many phases of our business.

THE FUTURE. Glendale is fast becoming a city of note, and is drawing the attention of the wide-awake merchants throughout the country. It now boasts of 40,000 population, and it will take no prophet to predict 100,000 of the better class of citizens, snugly nestled at the foot of your unusually beautiful mountains and the river on the south, within a very few months. We have caught the vision and, like true Glendalians, are here to help build that future.

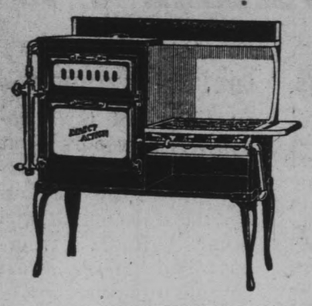
What to See at the Exposition—



By one woman who attended the last display:

Glendale, May 24, 1923.

COKER & TAYLOR,
Gentlemen:

My attention was first brought to the Direct Action Range at the 1922 Glendale Industrial Exposition. I am glad of this opportunity to boost for my Direct Action Range at any time or place. In years of cooking, using different kinds of ranges, the Direct Action Range is my ideal of all a range could be. Nothing can beat it in the winter. I have used my Direct Action Range cooking all night, getting up to a warm kitchen in the morning. It is very economical in gas.

I have found my Direct Action Range all that was recommended, and more.

If in doubt, buy a Direct Action Range.

PIANO EXCHANGE OPENS BUSINESS IN GLENDALE

Clearing House for Musical Instruments Established Here

Said to be of great advantage to the purchaser, wherever established, the Piano Exchange, better known as a piano clearing house, has secured a permanent location in Glendale at 112 West Broadway, the former premises of the Southern California Gas Company.

The Piano Exchange, according to its exponents, has a two-fold duty toward the home. A musical instrument, piano, player piano, grand piano or a phonograph has been purchased and becomes the center of attraction or chief entertainer in the home. But something happens—this is an age of sudden changes! Through a sudden business change the head of the house finds that in order to serve his interests best he must move to another city, usually a trip of some distance; holdings must be dispensed of quickly, as it will not pay to move heavy furniture, and especially a piano, any great distance. The Piano Exchange enters here, offering its services.

"This company has branches in all the states," says Manager Frank W. Brown. "If you have moved here from another state and have left your piano there in storage advise us; we will take in your instrument through our exchange back there and furnish you one from our immense stock here. We can make a similar exchange if you are compelled to move from Glendale to any other state.".

In the city of Los Angeles alone from 5 to 20 pianos a day are offered to the Exchange for liquidation. This great assortment of instruments, including all makes, ages and conditions, comes from all classes of homes, from estates, from retiring dealers, and scores of other sources and emergency conditions.

It is said that this establishment fills a long felt need. The music trade has become one of the largest factors in the commercial world; it enters every home in the land and interests every member of the family, indeed being a large factor in the harmony of every well ordered home.

FORD SALES PASS HALF MILLION IN 120 DAYS

Huge Total Is Rolled Up in Four Months, Making New Record

More than half a million Ford cars and trucks sold in 120 days.

That is the astonishing record just established by the Ford Motor Company, eclipsing all previous sales figures and emphasizing more strongly than ever the right of the Ford to the title "The Universal Car."

From January 1 to May 1 sales of Ford cars and trucks in the United States reached the enormous total of 561,544, nearly twice the number sold at retail during the same period a year ago when the total was 283,782.

Even with its huge production facilities, now operating on a schedule in excess of 6500 cars and trucks a day, the company is unable to keep up with the unprecedented demand.

April set a new sales record for the month, just as has every other month this year, and was the thirteenth consecutive month in which sales have run over the 100,000 mark.

Sales during April totaled 165,582 Ford cars and trucks, 50,000 more than were delivered in the same month last year, when 115,282 retail deliveries were made.

New production records were established by the Ford Motor company for the week ending Tuesday, May 8, during which a total of 39,053 cars and trucks were turned out for domestic use, according to announcement by The Ford News. This exceeds by 192 the previous high record set the week before.

Daily production records went to a new high mark Friday, May 4, when 6,590 cars and trucks were assembled, beating the record of 6573 established on Tuesday, April 17.

Fordson Tractor production for the week ending Tuesday was 2578.

During the same week the Lincoln division of the Ford Motor company produced 176 Lincoln cars.

New curtains are difficult to wash. As a rule, they are full of lime, and take a large quantity of soap, washing powder, etc., before they become clean. All this can be avoided by keeping the curtains over night in water in which a little salt has been dissolved. By this means soap and labor can be saved, as the salt draws every bit of lime out of the curtains.

"14TH LOVER" TO OPEN TONIGHT AT GLENDALE

Viola Dana, the Metro star, will be seen tonight at the Glendale Theatre in her newest photoplay, "The Fourteenth Lover," a Harry Beaumont production of Alice D. G. Miller's story, adapted for the screen by Edith Kennedy. The story concerns a wealthy young society girl who is asked by her father to choose one from her thirteen suitors and to settle down from her whirlwind debutante career. As she considers setling, she casts an eye upon the young college bred gardener of her father's estate. The young man refuses to become her fourteenth lover. The girl, Vi Marchmont, is put upon her mettle. She is going to "make him" love her. This determination leads her into merry and exciting adventure.

Miss Dana, as Vi, has a role that fits her vivacious personality to a nicety. Her supporting cast includes Jack Mulhall, Theodore von Eltz, Kate Lester, Alberta Lee, Frederick Vroom and Fornzie Gumm. The photography is by John Arnold and the art direction by A. F. Mantz.

NEWS OF EAGLE ROCK CITY

PAID SECRETARY TO BE CHOSEN TONIGHT

C. of C. Directors to Have Installation Meeting in City Hall

The new chamber of commerce board of directors meets in the city hall tonight. The books and records, complete and in order to date, will be turned over to the new directors. Officers will be elected, a president, several vice presidents and a treasurer from among the members of the board of directors. The new president will be installed in his chair and will take his first lesson in conducting the board. This is not an open meeting.

The most important issue to be taken up tonight is the appointment of the paid secretary for Eagle Rock. The two ineligible for the position who have been recommended to the board of directors by the committee appointed to look over the applications received by the chamber, have been notified to appear at the meeting tonight. They will be interviewed by the directors and if time permits afterwards, a decision will be reached and announcement made of the candidate chosen.

The two most promising entries for the paid secretaryship are H. L. Pittenger, who has been associated with the Wheat Growers association in Washington for some time and Donell G. Montgomery, an Eagle Rock man. Mr. Pittenger has had wide field experience, organizing the Washington farmers and marketing their grain to the mills and other wheat consumers. He has been the chief field and office executive of the association and comes here with an enviable record of service and many strong recommendations.

Donnell G. Montgomery, of 260 North Acacia avenue, the other candidate who has passed the interviewing committee is also well recommended. Mr. Montgomery studied for city managership while at Stanford university, and is now pursuing the study of law at U. S. C. He has entered with strong recommendations from the mayor of Los Angeles and many of the L. A. executive board members.

Eagle Rock Personals

Mrs. N. Quirk has leased Mrs. J. P. Colborn's home at 212 North Acacia avenue. Mrs. Quirk, with her son and daughter, 15 and 16 years old, have recently arrived from England, and although she has been here but a few weeks, she already states that this will be a permanent home.

Mrs. Bertha Bingham, mother of Mrs. Lillian De Pierro of Eagle Rock, leaves soon to visit another daughter, Miss F. H. Manger, in St. Louis. Mrs. Bingham will have an extended visit with friends and relatives in other parts of the east. She will visit Chicago and New York, but will return to make her home in Eagle Rock.

Mrs. E. P. Colborn, 212 North Acacia avenue, well-known speaker and church worker of Eagle Rock, has left here to visit friends and relatives in Morgantown, Virginia. She will be away for six months.

The American College Course club has finished its musical study, and is taking up history. "Babylonia" was the subject for study and discussion of the first meeting of the new course.

Mrs. Sam Wisdom and daughter Harriett, of Eagle Rock, with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Runde of Glendale, returned from San Francisco Wednesday evening. They spent the week-end with Mr. Wisdom who is making San Francisco his business headquarters as Pacific coast manager of sales for the Shinola company.

DEATHS — FUNERALS

Ralph L. Galbraith, who lived at 110 East Eagle avenue, and for whom funeral services will be held next week in Huntington, Indiana, was a graduate of Huntington college. He was also trained for business life through many special courses, but the heart trouble from which he suffered patiently for fourteen years before he passed away, prevented his pursuing any other than a sedentary occupation.

He was born in Hartsville, Ind., and entered the college at Huntington in 1910. He graduated in 1913, and in 1919 he was married. On the eve of their wedding, Mr. Galbraith and his wife, Susanna, came to California. He held a position with the Los Angeles educational board for some time, but was forced to give up that work. He was employed by the Union Wholesale Hardware and Metal company in Los Angeles at the time of his death. He was 31 years old.

Mr. Galbraith became a member of the Church of United Brethren in Christ when eleven years old, lived a good Christian life and drew to him a wide circle of friends through his sunny disposition which prevailed despite recurring illness since early boyhood. There are many friends in Eagle Rock who will miss him.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia: Grain shipments from Vancouver this season will amount to at least 18,000,000 bushels, as against a total of 7,500,000 bushels in the last season, and 500,000 bushels in the season before that.

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED BY 20TH CENTURY CLUB

Mrs. A. G. Reily, president.
Mrs. C. I. Ritchey, first vice-president.
Mrs. Mary D. Fiske, second vice-president.
Mrs. Alice Winters, third vice-president.
Mrs. A. M. Perry, recording secretary.
Mrs. C. W. Hunt, corresponding secretary.
Mrs. Arthur Doucette, treasurer.
Mrs. C. A. Tinkham, auditor.
Mrs. M. T. Lee, Mrs. S. B. Osborne, and Mrs. C. W. Young, board of directors.

Annual reports closing the business of the year were presented by the officers of last year.

Next Thursday the regular luncheon and afternoon meeting will be held. An unusual program is being arranged.

LOUISE M'KEE IS HONORED BY SORORITY

Miss Louise McKee of Eagle Rock, daughter of Mrs. Clara Booth McKee, was one of the four girls honored by initiation in the Delta sorority at Occidental college on May 22. She was the only one of the four from this district.

Miss McKee was one of the honor guests at the initiation dinner and at the party made up by the "Owls" in honor of the Deltas at the boys' glee club concert on May 23.

FIRPO SEEMS TO BE HEADED FOR THE TITLE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 25.—(United Press).—No fighter with all the natural ability and the dramatic color of Luis Angel Firpo, the South American caveman, has ever come up to make a strike for the world's heavyweight championship.

Firpo, with a tiger skin draped across his huge, hairy chest and the bone of a mastodon in his grasp, would look more at home stamping through the underbrush of a jungle. In the ring, with the modern implements of war, his brute strength and his natural fighting qualities are just as impressive.

Unless all signs fail, Firpo is headed for the title. It may take some time for him to get there, but he is almost sure to arrive.

The list of men he has beaten in this country during his short career is not impressive, but the manner in which he has won and the steady improvement that has been observed in his work makes it obvious that he has all the makings of a great fighter.

Perhaps he is not ready for Dempsey just yet, and along that line it would be the wise thing for the champion to arrange a match with him before he gets ready. Dempsey will get no better as he goes along, and the transformation that is being worked in the Argentine giant is marvelous.

Behind the transformation of Firpo from almost a savage state to a polished modern fighter is the master-hand of Jimmy De Forest, the greatest trainer of boxers in the world.

De Forest made Jack Dempsey champion of the world. It took him two years to do it, and in two months, under the terrible handicap of teaching a pupil who understood not a word he was saying, De Forest has made almost as much progress as he made with the present champion.

Dempsey and Firpo in starting out had much in common. Both are natural fighters and neither knew how to hit when he started. Both are weak on the defense and they both fight on the theory that a strong offensive is the best defense. Keep the other fellow so busy he hasn't time to attack is sound strategy when a fighter can "take it." Both Dempsey and Firpo can take it.

In figuring the dope there is one very important thing:

If Firpo goes down, he will come up and no one knows what Dempsey will do under the same circumstances.

It is a safe bet, however, that if Firpo gets a clean shot at Dempsey and puts him down, that Dempsey will not get up within ten.

In a recent drive to raise money for the Radcliffe endowment fund an alumnus of that college employed two small boys to sell soap. "Why are you selling the soap?" inquired a lady at a house on Johnnie's beat. "To raise $3,000,000 for Radcliffe," was th prompt reply.

"Three million dollars!" the lady exclaimed, amused at the youngster's seriousness. "And are you going to raise it all by yourself?"

"No ma'am," said Johnnie, "there's another little boy helping me."

Should milk boil over on the stove, sprinkle the spot with salt. This will remove the disagreeable odor.

PLANT DAHLIAS NOW, URGES COMMITTEE

Now Until July 1 Is Dahlia Planting Time, Says J. J. Broomall

Plans are under consideration to make the Dahlia Festival this year one of the feature events of the year in Eagle Rock, an annual custom that will distinguish this section of Los Angeles from all other districts. A large committee, calling together again all those who served last year in arranging the dahlia show which was presented in the Twentieth Century club house and proved a huge success, has been selected and is working on the plans for a bigger and better demonstration this year.

The campaign to interest home landscape gardeners in making more extensive and effective use of the community flower in their planting is meeting with popular favor everywhere. Special instruction as to the care of dahlias is being compiled by the dahlia committee and this will be issued from time to time for the benefit of those who are not familiar with the cultivation of the beautiful plants. Special stress is being laid upon planting of large numbers of bulbs now. Mr. Broomall, local scientific expert on plant life, particularly on the cultivation of the dahlia, suggests that for the most successful results, persons wishing to plant bulbs for the show particularly, should delay about two weeks owing to the climatic conditions. He states that the season will in all probability be especially warm, and it will be better for plants to be set out later so that they will not mature during the hottest period, in order to get the best specimens. But anytime from now until July 1 is splendid dahlia planting time, he says. The ground should be exceptionally well cultivated and fitted for the bulbs before they are set out this year.

The dahlia show itself is, of course, the culmination of all the efforts of the home gardeners and outdoor decorators. Their choice specimens will be harvested at the allotted time and gathered in a profusion of exquisite bloom in the ballroom of the Women's club house for inspection. Unique features are being worked out to advertise the dahlia show, and to boost Eagle Rock as the "Dahlia City." The committee is in charge of Mrs. C. W. Young. One of the most interesting angles is the plan to fill the waiting station at the intersection of Colorado boulevard and Central avenue with boquets of the flowers, all to be volunteered from the oversupply of blossoms which many persons will have when their plants bloom. During the days of the dahlia show, motorists passing the "mystic circle" will be hended beautiful flowers to remind them that Eagle Rock is truly the "Dahlia City." Every merchant in the business section will be presented with a number of choice blossoms which he will be requested to put up in a conspicuous place in his show window, and residents will be especially requested to see that all their friends who are ill or who do not have gardens, are always supplied with the flowers. The hospitals will receive many donations from the gardens of those who have planted more than the share that they have been asked to set out. During the days of the festival, everyone will be asked to use the dahlia in interior home decorations also. Every effort will be made to push the dahlia into prominence everywhere.

Mrs. F. H. Lerchin has charge of the advertising at the community picture shows, and Mrs. Klye D. Palmer is in charge of publicity.

Mrs. J. C. Clausen and Mrs. Stevens have charge of the presentation of the flowers. Other members of the committee who are pushing the plans to their utmost possibilities are Mrs. W. W. Weir, Mrs. Mary Hickson, Mrs. Anne Harrison, Mrs. C. W. Jones, Mrs. Sherrill Osborne, Mrs. F. M. Runge and Mrs. C. R. Williams, who is in charge of marketing for the dahlia bulbs.

It has been found necessary to form this separate department to investigate the dahlia bulb market and buy from the wholesale dealers in Los Angeles enough to supply the local market. J. J. Broomall has almost run out of bulbs, except for the more expensive class of plants, so it is essential that the Eagle Rock dealers be provided with a sufficient stock at once.

All local organizations are co-operating with the dahlia committee. The chamber of commerce, the Realty board, the Eagle Rock Improvement association, the P.-T. A. and the Women's club are working together for a brilliant showing this year.

"Absolutely without aesthetic principles," said the artist.

"Vulgar and vapid," said the advanced woman.

"Lacking in idealism and fundamental ethics," said the philosopher.

"Rotten," said the critic.

"Music absolutely devoid of rhythm," said the musician of the day.

"Quite so," said the producer.

And the musical play was the hit of the season.

Bits of toilet soap which are too small to be used may be utilized by making a bag of Turkish toweling about nine inches square and putting into it all the small pieces. When about three-quarters full, sew it up and use it as if it was a cake of soap.

SONG RALLY WILL WIND UP MUSIC WEEK

Entire Community Urged to Be present at Women's Club Tonight

Don't forget the community song rally at the Women's club house tonight at 8 o'clock sharp. Arthur Farwell, founder of the American Community Song movement will lead the ensemble songs, and the finest Eagle Rock talent will present a melange of melody and harmony that will finish up Music week with a genuine musical treat. Everyone is welcome.

SPAN OF LIFE IS INCREASING YEARLY

New York Health Commissioner Reports to National Conference

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—"The expectation of life at birth has increased in the registration area of the United States between 1900-1920, for whites only, from about 49.5 years to over 55 years, or more than five years. For negroes the increase has been greater, over seven years, it is now about 41 years. The highest expectation of life in 24 states of the United States in 1920 was in Kansas, where it was 59.7 for males and 60.9 for females. In the next 20 years we may hope to add another five years to the expectation of life in the United States." This was the prediction made by Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, health commissioner of New York state, at the general session of the Committee on Health of the National Conference of Social Work this evening.

"It will be possible within the next fifteen or twenty years," said Dr. Biggs, "to save annually the lives of another 15,000 persons in New York state as estimated from the death returns for 1920, even though the crude death rate of that year was the lowest occurring in the state up to that time. The highest expectation of life ever published oficially by any country was 63.5 years for females in the County of West Sussex, England, for 1911-12. This may be taken as the theoretical optimum at the present time towards which we are striving.

"Continued improvements should be brought about by the establishment of the custom of periodical medical examination of all individuals in the community; by systematic instruction in health in all schools and universities, and the inculcaton of health habits; by continuation of the campaign of health education by public health authorities and by various voluntary agencies. By improving the standards of medical and surgical care, and increased hospital and laboratory facilities, especially in the rural districts; by the further reduction in the prevalence of the common infectious diseases like diphtheria, tuberculosis, typhoid fever, etc.; the postponement through education and physical examination of the age at which death occurs from the degenerative diseases and the diseases of later life, such as diseases of the heart and blood vessels, Bright's disease, etc. By extension of the work in mental and oral hygiene and diseases and disorders of the nutrition and venereal diseases; by continued efforts to solve the problem of the control of the acute respiratory diseases.

"Increased expenditures for public health will be necessary to produce the expected result, but no expenditures are so profitable as these when wisely made. The economic savings which arise from decreased sickness and death amount to at least ten times the total expenditures made by all public and voluntary health and welfare agencies. The economic saving in New York City in 1920 as compared with 1896 can not well be less than $250,000,000.

"The striking progress made in the saving of life in New York City in twenty-five years is shown by the comparison of the number of deaths which occurred in 1920 from certain specific causes with the deaths which would have occurred from these same causes if the death rate prevailing in 1896, twenty-five years earlier, had obtained. These include the deaths from the ordinary communicable diseases, such as typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, measles, tuberculosis, cerebrospinal meningitis, and also from certain other important diseases, pneumonia, bronchitis, Bright's disease, and nephritis, diarrheas under five, nervous and puerperal diseases and violence. The deaths which actually occurred in 1920 from these causes number 26,400, but if the death rates of 1896 from these same causes had prevailed in 1920 the deaths would have been 89,660, the decrease in 1920 over 1896 equaling 53,260.

"Of important causes of death (aside from automobile accidents) only two show marked increases—these are cancer and diseases of the heart, which together show an increase of 6,158."

ALLEGED TAPPER TRIED SWINDLE ON GLENDALIAN

[By Associated Press]

SANTA ANA, May 25.—Chief of Police Claude Rogers late yesterday arrested a man claiming to be Frank W. Webe, believed to be a telegraph operator and a member of wire "tappers" alleged to have victimized telegraph companies through the country. When arrested the man was attempting to claim $150 from the Western Union Telegraph company that had been sent to Fred V. Webb.

At the time of Webe's arrest in this city the true Fred V. Webb was in the Glendale branch office of the telegraph company assisting the manager of that branch in locating his money. The true Webb had wired his sister at Scranton, Pa., asking for $150. The request was sent from San Pedro. It requested the money to be sent to Glendale, Calif. Yesterday morning a message was received at the Glendale branch of the telegraph company ordering the money forwarded to Santa Ana. The man arrested is being held pending the arrival of Deputy Sheriff Fox of Los Angeles who says that Webe is wanted in several cities for similar frauds.

Fred V. Webb of Glendale has been employed by the Coghlin Electric company, 310 East Broadway for about a month. He was reported there today to be enroute to Santa Ana to confront the alleged wire tapper.

To clean satin and silks, making them like new, cover the article to be cleaned with French chalk, then brush off with a hard brush. Should the satin not be sufficiently cleaned by the first dusting, it may be done a second time. This will clean and beautify the satin. The more it is brushed the better.

Art muslin curtains should never be washed in warm water. Make a lather with hot water, and when it is nearly cold wash the curtains. If these are green, add a little vinegar; if lilac or pink, a little ammonia.

POLLOCK LOSES SPRINT AT STAGG FIELD

[By Associated Press]

STAGG FIELD, CHICAGO, May 25.—High school sprint stars, representing almost every state in the nation, received their first test in the national interscholastic track and field meet today when they competed in the preliminaries, to qualify for the finals tomorrow.

The second and third heats of the 100-yard run were run off in ten seconds, Eugene Goodwillie of University High of Chicago beating Pollock of Pasadena, Calif., to the tape in the second.

Steel Men Predict Glendale's Future

Mr. Hitchcock in opening the program of the evening. "We believe in doing things, not talking about them.

"I see a wonderful spirit in Glendale. It is a spirit of push, progress, advancement, co-operation—of 'go-get 'em' of the stuff that really makes a city. When I notice this I do not wonder why Glendale has in the past and is now advancing with leaps and bounds. I can foresee a wonderful future for this city. We are exceedingly glad to be able to have a little part in the advancement of this community. We know Glendale is going to grow and we are going to assist her in every way possible."

A beautiful little word picture of Glendale in the early days, when she was nothing but a cactus patch, was "painted" by M. A. Baker, vice-president and general manager of the Baker iron works, who gave the response to the address of welcome.

"Years and years ago I was married in Glendale," said Mr. Baker. "That is before you men even thought of California. In those days I spent many happy hours riding on horseback over every foot of the land that is now Glendale. It was a country open and free. Our concern started its first plant here, and at that time we made plows and other farming implements.

"I remember when Glendale had its boom in 1885. It was during that boom that the hotel, that is now the sanitarium, was constructed. Finally the boom bubble burst, it exploded—the bottom fell out. The hotel was then converted into St. Hilda's hall and that failed. It was used for everything but a garage, and everything failed. I understand that property now is worth a million dollars."

"This is a very unique occasion," said Attorney Mattison B. Jones. "A few months ago we gave a dinner to John Lawson, when he began the construction of Glendale's first 4-story building, but you folks, in starting this 6-story structure, entertain us. You have beaten us to it. We cannot express our appreciation for your hospitality and for what you are doing for our city.

"There is a spirit of progress in Glendale. When I came here 12 years ago Glendale had a population of 2500 people—today she has around 40,000 souls. Everything that a city needs is here—and the most wonderful climate in the world. She has the hills, but is not shut from the sea breezes.

"Glendale is like a sprinter—she does not grow gradually, but dashes ahead with leaps and bounds. She is determined to grow, but grow honorably."

A vocal solo was given by T. D. Powell, of Pasadena, who sang "A Tree," and responded with "Without You." Eva Kurtz Ghrist was at the piano. Later in the evening Mr. Powell favored the company with other vocal numbers.

Piano numbers were given by Eva Kurst Ghrist, who played "Aeolus" by Gernsheim, and "Polonaise" by MacDowell, and responded to encores.

R. F. Kitterman, vice-president and manager of the Glendale branch of the Security Trust and Savings bank, responded to the toast, "The New Bank," and City Manager William H. Reeves answered with the toast, "Co-operation of the Two Cities."

Jesse E. Smith, president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, was called upon to respond to the toast, "Chamber of Commerce and City Building," while the "We Thank You" of the evening was delivered by E. F. Sanders, secretary of the local chamber.

Musical numbers during the evening were furnished by the Kelly-Shrine orchestra, in connection with which a saxophone solo was given by Adeline Woodbury.

The repast, furnished by the Glen Inn, caterers, was well in keeping with the high character of the numbers appearing on the program.

The new 6-story building, in miniature, was the special feature of the evening. It is 3x4 feet in size and electrically illuminated.

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

BABY'S FIRST SET OF TEETH

When the newest baby was seven months old its mother decided that she knew very little indeed about babies and much less about their teeth. After surveying the two tiny teeth her small son had produced, she asked her doctor-husband:

"What did you say those first teeth are called?"

"The two lower are central incisors," replied the doctor. "There are four incisors, or central teeth, in each jaw. Then come the pointed or canine teeth, of which there are two in each jaw, one on either side of the incisors."

The young mother mopped the baby's chin, over which saliva was running freely, and said:

"When do the permanent teeth appear? The ones that dentists say are so important?"

"Generally between the sixth and seventh years," said the doctor. "But these first teeth are absolutely as important as the permanent teeth, my dear. Unless the first teeth are well cared for bacteria will reach their roots and bring about mouth conditions that will injure the permanent teeth when they appear."

"I think the names of teeth are utterly silly," said the baby's mother. "What with lower lateral incisors, and anterior molars, I am all mixed up."

"It's not so difficult to understand about the teeth," said the doctor. "Someone has very cleverly called them the 'pearly gates to health.' They are. Delay in cutting teeth is sometimes due to malnutrition, but there is little ground for worry on that score, as far as our baby is concerned." The doctor looked at the baby, who was the picture of health, with pardonable pride.

"These first two teeth,' he said, "are the lower central incisors. Between the eighth and twelfth months he will cut his two upper central incisors, and also the two upper lateral incisors.

"After the twelfth month come the lower lateral incisors, then the four anterior molars some time before his sixteenth month.

"The anterior molars, known also as the bicuspids, will appear behind the canine teeth and the posterior molars behind the anterior molars."

"Please stop telling me these puzzling names and explain when the permanent teeth begin to grow," said the young mother.

"They begin to form in the gums in earliest infancy," replied the doctor.

And when do the first teeth drop out?"

"They should not 'drop out.' They should be cared for while they last. If the milk teeth are lost too soon the shape and condition of the cavities through which the teeth come, and in which their rooms remain, may be so altered as to interfere with the shape and normal condition of the permanent teeth. We owe it to this youngster to start tooth brush drill as soon as he has teeth. When I was a boy we tied strings to our teeth, yanked them out, and felt this to be a test of grit as well as something of an accomplishment.

"But nowadays, thank goodness, we have begun to realize the importance of the 'pearly gates to health.'"

MOUNT HOOD RACE CONTEST

PORTLAND, Oregon, May 25 (United Press).—The annual race for the honor of being first to reach the summit of Mt. Hood, furnished a thrilling contest year year.

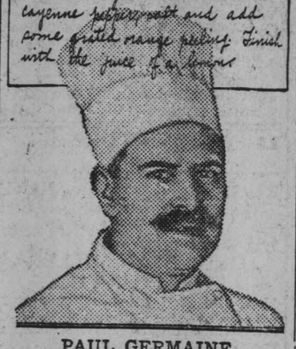
Of the two parties of Mazamas (hiking organization) entered, that led by E. E. Philpog, reached the forest service station cabin on the peak just eight minutes ahead of R. H. Bunnage and his companions. It was the second attempt the Philpog party had made this year. Three weeks ago, after lying at timber line for four hours, they were driven back by a terrific blizzard.

When folding clothes lay them on table and fold on seams if possible. Particular attention should be given to sleeves and collars. Coat lapels should be turned up to lie flat, collars turned up and coat folded through centre seam. Skirts and coats with bias seams are not improved by hanging, as bias parts are apt to stretch.

NEW ORANGE RECIPE BY PAUL GERMAINE

California Sauce for Asparagus:

Take the juice of six large California oranges. Boil until it gets to the consistency of cream. Add to it six yolks of eggs and whip up on a slow fire till it gets thick. Then pour slowly half a pound of melted butter, stirring continuously. Season with cayenne pepper, salt and add some grated orange peeling. Finish with the juice of a lemon.



PAUL GERMAINE

Appreciation of one of California's noted products is reflected in a new recipe originated by the famous French chef, Paul Germaine, of the Red Star liner, Belgenland—American owned and the newest of the de luxe ships on the Atlantic—which plies between New York, English Channel ports and Antwerp.

Monsieur Germaine was formerly chef at the Hotel Continental, Paris, and later at the Savoy, London, both fashionable caravansaries catering to Americans. Now he is directing the catering on the Belgenland.

Germaine has evolved a system for the Belgenland by which first class passengers may have à la carte service with distinctive dishes and an elaborate continental bill-of-fare, instead of the time-honored steamship table d'hote, familiar to all travelers.

Chef Germaine is a strong believer in the food value of California's oranges and one of the first dishes he invented for the Belgenland's table was a sauce having California orange juice as its base.

The path of duty leads to happiness.

Glendale Welcomes You!

In the fullness of ripening opportunity, Glendale's merchants and manufacturers have set up their booths in the greatest Industrial Exposition of effort that this community has ever seen, to show to the people of the San Fernando Valley, the resources of their own district, the resourcefulness of their trade center, the evidence of development in the past and the indications of the future of this district.

In the following pages will be found the advertisements of these merchants who are laying the business foundation of Glendale in the cement of service, with the steel of integrity, and building with the masonry of optimism, even as you who build your homes here and become residents of the San Fernando Valley, in the sunlight of a favored land.

Not all is perfect, but all is effort in a right direction, spurred on with the instinct for building for better and better things in that which is akin to brotherhood of the communities along the old King's Highway.

INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION SWINGS OPEN ITS DOORS

HANDSOME BOOTHS SHOWING GLENDALE MERCHANTS' AND MANUFACTURES' EFFORTS TO MAKE HUGE SUCCESS AWAIT SPECTATORS

The big show is ready.

Everything and everybody, from the ticket seller to the fat girls, are in trim and waiting for the crowd. Nothing remains to be done. It's all there—everything. It could not be more complete if P. T. Barnum had the exposition under his wing.

Promptly at 7 o'clock tonight, the opening gun of the Second Glendale Merchants' Exposition will be fired. At that time the visitors who will appear on the program of the evening will be on hand. Those from out of town will avail themselves of the opportunity of throwing bouquets at the residents of Glendale, and in return the speakers from this city will toss a few verbal posies visitor-ward.

From the beginning of festivities tonight there will be ten days of sure-enough, rapid-fire, go-getter events. Every moment will have its own little surpise, and for the various performances many startling features have been arranged.

The program that will be given tonight will be as follows:

Promptly at 7 o'clock the visitors, who will take part on the program will arrive. They will be met by the reception committee at the entrance of the big tent and escorted to the platform, from which the various programs will be given.

Col. James W. Everington will be chairman of the evening. To him will go the honor of introducing the visitors, who will, after acknowledging the introduction, follow with a short address, in which he will take the exposition, Glendale, or some other "close-to-home" feature as a topic.

Those who have been invited to appear on the program are men of prominence in Southern California. They are men who are in the public eye and each of them will bring a message that will be well worth hearing.

Capt. John D. Fredericks, who was high man in the votes for congress at the recent primaries, will be one of the speakers on the program. Capt. Fredericks has been prominent in California politics for many years and is well known in this section.

Frank Wigigns, secretary of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce will also appear on the program. If there is a Southern California booster in "these parts," Secretary Wiggins is the man. He knows Los Angeles and the surrounding country like a book and from every angle, and in his talk he will impart to his hearers a little of this information.

Roy F. Turney, who is prominent in Los Angeles and a speaker of considerable ability, will represent Mayor Cryer on this occasion. Mr. Turney is a live wire and his remarks are "right from the shoulder" as they say. Those who hear him will doubtless learn something that they will remember for a long time.

Mayor Berkeley of Ocean Park-Santa Monica, will also be on the program, and will liberate some of the oratory he has been accumulating for this occasion. Mayor Berekeley is not going to tell the people of Glendale and their visitors how to run a city, although he knows very well how to do that very thing, but will brin ga message of cheer and good will from the moaning breakers to the prettiest and best little city in the whole country.

Two of Glendale's leading speakers will also be given a chance to exercise their oratorical imaginations. Than these two men there are no two in Glendale that are better known.

Mattison B. Jones, one of the ablest attorneys in Southern California, will represent the Glendale chamber of commerce and the Glendale Credit association. He will, no doubt, compliment H. L. Leavitt on his wonderful work in putting over the greatest exposition of this character that Glendale has ever seen, and also thank the people of Glendale for their loyal support. He will also bespeak the support of the people of this city for the chamber and the merchants' organization, and will probably extend a welcome to the visitors to Glendale and an invitation to "come again."

W. A. Horn, councilman of this city and known to the very edges of this thriving place, will represent the Glendale city council. Those who have ever heard "Bill" speak, know that he is a past master in the art of oratory.

Councilman Horn will welcome the visitors to Glendale. In effect he will say:

"The latchstrings of Glendale are always on the outside to those who come with good intentions and good fellowship, or to the fellow who needs assistance in any way."

Following the program of addresses, which will close about 8 o'clock, a concert will be given by the Elks' band of Glendale. The work of these local musicians is above the ordinary, and those who have heard this aggregation of players in action realize this fact. The boys will prepare their very best program for this event and those attending are assured of a musical treat. The concert will continue for about one hour.

The selections of the band will be interspersed by vocal numbers by Mrs. James Townsend, the woman baritone from Australia, who has attained an enviable reputation on the Pacific coast for her remarkable work.

Promptly at 9 o'clock the initial fashion show will start. This will be put on by Miss Ruth Stokes of Los Angeles, one of the fashion authorities of the west.

In this show Miss Stokes will employ living models, brought here from Los Angeles, and the dresses and gowns shown will be provided by local merchants.

The fashion show will be followed by another one-hour concert by the Glendale Elks' band.

During the evening the hours will be enlivened by selections by the municipal band of Santa Monica which will be brought here by Mayor Berkeley. Every musician in the Santa Monica band is an artist and a soloist, and those who attend the exposition on the opening night will be assured of hearing this musical organization at its very best.

Mayor Berkeley will also bring with him Harry Horn, the municipal vocal soloist of Santa Monica, who will render several numbers during the evening, accompanied by the Santa Monica band.

Following the program those who attend can remain in the tent as long as they desire to do so. There will be a large variety of attractions which assure no dull moments.

Prior to the opening of the big show at the tent at 7 o'clock, will be the formal reception of the visitors at the chamber of commerce. Between 6 and 6:30 the visitors will arrive at the chamber and at 6:30 the reception committee, which was appointed recently by President Smith of the chamber, will make the out-of-town guests feel at home and will "break the ice" for the tent program that will follow immediately afterward.

One half hour will be given to the introduction of the guests, after which all of those attending this preliminary affair will go in a body to the big tent, where, upon their arrival, the festivities of the evening will commence.

The committee that will receive the guests is composed of the following local men and women:

The executive committee of the Glendale Credit association—H. M. Butts, Owen C. Emery, William H. Hooper, William Moore, Archie Parker, W. P. Potter and H. S. Webb.

The board of directors of the chamber of commerce—Geo. Bentley, P. J. Hayselden, E. C. Pendroy, L. H. Wilson, C. E. Kimlin, C. D. Lusby, W. E. Hewitt, Jesse Smith, Dan Campbell, Roy L. Kent, Peter L. Ferry, D. L. Gregg and A. R. Eastman.

The following heads of committees of the chamber of commerce, not represented on the board of directors of that organization or the executive committee of the Glendale Credit association: W. L. Twining, advertising and publicity; George B. Karr, boy scouts and civics; Myrtle A. Baldwin, comfort station; Dr. Warren Z. Newton, community chest; D. Ripley Jackson, entertainment; V. M. Hollister, budget; L. W. Chobe, float; Dr. E. H. Parker, hotel; A. L. Baird, industrial; C. F. Stuart, membership; Prof. G. U. Moyse, schols; Albert Pearce, telephone, gas, and other public utilities, and H. L. Finley, transportation.

RUSSELL-PIERCE TO EXHIBIT NEW FURNITURE

Glendale Made, Planned for Climate, it Should Win Attention

Bedroom suites of exceptional style and construction, which have been manufactured in Glendale by the Russell-Pierce Furniture company, will form one of the leading features of the furniture exhibit to be placed by this company with the Exposition.

The Russell-Pierce Furniture company, located at 1529 South San Fernando Road, manufacture all styles of bedroom suites, producing a high grade of the ivory, as well as those of dark finish.

In addition to their own manufactures, the company will display Premier bed springs; Stockwell "never stretch" mattresses; Quire Brothers' polychrome mirrors; Roberti Brothers' bed davenports; Robertson's shades and lamp standards, and Fiber over-stuffed furniture.

STORY OF A LOG IS INDEPENDENT CO. ATTRACTION

Lumber Company to Show the Making of Finished Goods for Glendale

That the process of finishing lumber from the log to the part it plays in the building of the home, is one of the most interesting and fascinating to be followed, will be shown at the Glendale Merchants' Exposition beginning tomorrow, at the booth of the Independent Lumber company, whose offices are located at San Fernando and Doran.

Logs of the Oregon Pine will be on display at this booth, and the entire process of finishing lumber will be explained by members of the company. A representative of the company will be present at all times during the exposition to tell the story of "From the Lumber Camp to the Home."

ing, secretary of the Glendale Merchants' association, and Col. John Everington, secretary.

Two shows will be held daily, except Sunday, at the big exposition tent. For the afternoon performances the doors will open at 1:30 o'clock and the performance will start at 2. This will continue until 5 o'clock in the evening. The night shows will start at 7 o'clock and will continue until a late hour. A general admission of 25 cents will be charged for each single ticket, for either the afternoon or evening show, but coupon books, containing ten admissions will be available at $1 each, and each carries ten chances on the Maxwell auto which will be given away.

In addition to the main exposition there will be a number of side attractions, which will do their part in keeping the time from "lagging." The principal side show will be the den of lions, over which Mrs. Charles Gay will have complete charge. During the past two days Mrs. Gay has been overseeing the transportation of the animals from the Gay home on Mission boulevard, east of Los Angeles, where the lion farm is located, to Glendale. In this lion display there will be 45 animals, including everything from the week-old baby to the "old man." A representative of the Glendale Press visited the lions' den and finds that it is an attraction well worth seeing.

Then there will be the Daily Brothers dog and pony circus. A number of educated ponies and dogs are employed in this event, and a "preview" of this attraction shows that it is quite above the ordinary for features of this kind.

Mrs. Westlake's circus side show, consisting of monkeys, snakes, and other things, will be another attraction that will interest everyone. These attractions will be housed in individual tents.

Within the large tent there will be, as a side attraction, the two largest women in the world. These ladies are sisters, and together, weigh well over 1000 pounds.

As added attractions there will be four wagon shows of unusual type.

Two watches will be given each evening to those holding lucky numbers.

One hundred and eighty local and out-of-town exhibitors will show their goods beneath the "big top." Everything imaginable will be there, and samples and souvenirs of all kinds will be given to all who attend.

More than $75,000 has been spent in the construction and the decoration of the booths, according to Director H. L. Leavitt. The merchants of the city and those from outside have vied with each other in their attempt to produce the most attractive and most artistic booth. Many of the offerings are works of art, and will prove a revelation to those who attend. Each merchant will put on special features during the show and these will be of especial interest to everyone.

H. L. Leavitt, who has made this exposition possible, has worked night and day for weeks in its preparation. He has been ably assisted by George Giseler, who is a show man of many years' experience.

All that remains is for the people of Glendale and the country surrounding on all sides to attend. The best and biggest show of the kind ever offered in this part of the country has been provided. Those who do not attend at least one of these shows will miss an "exposition classic" in the truest sense of the word.

HARRIETT MAE IS BACK FROM ISLAND

Harriett Mae Reynolds, owner of the Harriett Mae Tea Room which has become the popular meeting place for clubs and various organizations in the city, returned Wednesday night from a week's vacation spent at Catalina Island. According to her report Catalina is quiet at the present time, and she was enabled to enjoy a satisfactory rest at the St. Catherine's Hotel.

52 ARCHITECTS SEEK SECURITY HOUSING PRIZE

To Form Exhibit of Company at Booth in Exposition

It will be found, when the three distinguished architects from Los Angeles undertake to judge the entries made in the architectural contest staged by the Security Housing Corporation, that a much greater task awaits them than they had perhaps expected.

Fifty-two young architects have participated in this contest, and the drawings, part of which are colored, and others finished in black and white, offer a wide range of visualization, showing exceptional ability on the part of many of the contestants.

All of these drawings are to be displayed at the booth of the Security Housing Corporation at the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition. It is predicted that Glendale home-seekers will be as delighted with these new designs as has been the case of the officials of the corporation, who have offered four prizes for the best drawings, $150, $75, $50 and $35.

The judges, who have been chosen to make the decision upon the drawings some time Monday May 28, are D. C. Allison, who designed the University Club building of Los Angeles; Frank J. Hudson, and Pierpont Davis, all of Los Angeles.

In addition to the Glendale spectators, it is expected that there will be a large representation from the Los Angeles Architects' club at the exposition, as 350 invitations have been issued by the club secretary to its members. Following the judging, the name of each contestant will be placed upon his piece of work, so that all may know who participated.

WASINGTON TO DOUBLE WITH SHRINE HOST

National Capital Prepares for Hordes from the West

By FRASER EDWARDS
(U. P. Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(U. P.)—Cities have risen mushroom-like over night during gold-rushes in the West, but no staid metropolis has ever doubled its population in a day. Yet that is what Washington expects to do during Shrine Week—June 3 to 8.

The nation's capital was a beehive of activity today preparing to play host to a multitude that will make the great inaugural crowds seem like a Squash Center county court day throng in comparison.

Washington, normally a city of about 450,000, anticipates tucking away 900,000 each night of the week the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine turn the city into a colorful Arab camp with their red fezes and bisarre zouave costumes.

A shrine with a bent for statistics has figured out that Washington's guest, if rolled into one, would make a noble twice the height of the Washington Monument—1,100 feet—and weighing 75,000,000 pounds. Broad Pennsylvania avenue would make a narrow footpath for his 150 feet shoes and he would wear a fez the size of the capitol dome.

The housing committee, having filled every available hotel has asked citizens to open their homes to this gigantic guest. Nearly 1,500 Pullman cars standing in the terminal will house others and many thousands may be forced to go to the tent colony now being organized.

Washington's guest will pay a board bill of $5,000,000 day. Washington merchants, who have raised a fund of $500,000 for entertainment of their guest, expect to reap a profit of $50,000,000 in ten days.

The hens of six states will be kept busy laying egs for the crowd. "Old Bossy" must give up 25,000 gallons of milk daily for coffee alone and the baker must furnish 250,000 loaves of bread. It is estimated that 2,500,000 pounds of meat will be eaten during the colossal carnival.

The city authorities do not fear a famine, but they have taken the precaution to warn the residents to lay in a three-weeks' store of non-perishable food supplies in advance of the coming multitude.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, May 24.—More than 22,000 persons were inspected and passed through the western provinces during March, according to Thomas Gelley, chief immigration officer here.

Interior view of Glendale branch of the Western Auto Supply Company showing arrangement of stock of accessories and how they are advantageously displayed in glass cases and bins. Lower left, camp goods department. Lower right, exterior view of the store. Center panel, reading from right to left: Mr. C. Roudebush, manager, and his three assistants, Mr. Jefferies, Mr. Cross and Mr. Warren.

Located in the center of Glendale you will find the local home of Saving Sam, the ingenious little trade character so well known to motorists throughout the west. During the year 1922 over 275 carloads of auto supplies and tires were distributed through this chain of auto accessory houses on the Pacific Coast.

Thus is epitomized the growth of the Western Auto Supply Company, started by Geo. Pepperdine, its president, in 1909, from a concern doing an annual business of $12,000 that year to an organization doing an annual business of more than $7,000,000 in 1922, from a desk in a garage to a chain of 70 modern stores and the number still increasing.

If you have never visited a Western Auto Supply store you have a surprise in store for you. Here you will find a countless array of accessories, camping goods and in fact everything else that the motorist may need.

From spark plugs to overhead valve blocks for Fords, the stock of tires, parts and accessories is all-embracing. And in addition to the regular needs, such as spark plugs, wrenches, horns, jacks, etc., there are many novelties and luxuries which go to make autoing more comfortable and self-satisfying. Snappy radiator caps, wire wheels, spotlights, cigar lighters—the list is long and varied.

Walking back to the rear of the store, Mr. Roudebush, local manager of the Western Auto Supply company, introduces the motorist to his pride and joy—the Western Giant Cord. Passing beyond the tire section the first thing that greets the motorists' gaze is what apparently seems to be the entrance to a natural playground. In venturing further you pass between two mighty oaks that seem to support the ceiling—on into this forest and there you are in nature's woodlands. Beneath the canopy formed by the branches overhead, you will observe that a modern auto camp is placed, complete in every detail. Here every comfort and convenience for the auto camper may be found. Camp chairs, that are really comfortable, gasoline stoves that prepare the meal in a minute's time, tents that are really waterproof, and beds like "mother used to make.'

Mr. Roudebush extends to each and every motorist his hearty invitation to visit him at his store or at the booth at the Exposition, where he has prepared an elaborate display of automotive merchandise and campers' needs.

SOCIAL SERVICE IS NATIONAL WORK

So Declares Rabbi Meyer of New York Temple

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif., May 25.—Martin A. Meyer, Rabbi of Temple Emanuel, San Francisco, in an address before the California Conference of Social Work here Wednesday, said that social service ought to be nothing less than national service, human service, whose benefits are to be shared in by all the people as the results of the efforts of the people for the common good. He said:

"The better off classes of our communities stand or rather have stood in a peculiar relation to our social service activities by reason of their abundant means and the leisure which this assures them. It is possible that the rise and increase of the democratic 'community chest' may alter this first factor, not to speak of the increasing activity of the state in this field, though such changes and their results may be said to belong to the distant future. The second factor will remain as it is for a longer time, for although on the one side we find an increasing group of professional paid workers in social service, the administrative aspect of the work will continue to be the hands of those who have the leisure to devote themselves to these altruistic expressions of community life.

"I find this unfortunate both from the theoretical and the practical side. In a democracy such as ours we ought to find place for those who are of the masses, in the determination of policy and the details of administration for those who by reason of their own personal experience and interest should best be able to help in the fixing of the important social questions involved in service. Practically, too, we submit that so long as the rich by reason of their leisure are in control of these institutions there will be created and continue to exist the atmosphere of patronage which we think is the weakest spot in our whole social service system, call it by what name we will. We note that here and there attempts have been and are still made to democratize boards of directors. We should like some one to make the study which would give us the facts of these experiments so that we might be the better prepared to take the next step in this direction, or whether they are to be considered at all as desirable and practicable.

"But we feel certain in our own mind that until this element of patronage is subordinated or entirely eliminated from this work that social service will not come fully into its own. The silk-robed volunteer visitor who drives up in her limousine to demonstrate the virtues of thrift and simplicity to the inhabitants of the so-called slum has long been a target for the shafts of the satirist, but despite all she persists. The slum-spotted 'gentleman' who comes to tell the slum boy how to live is a living lie. The self-conscious class-conscious person who undertakes to socialize the 'other half' is by this very fact unable to accomplish anything of lasting worth.

"We realize the need of funds for social work. We realize that under present conditions these funds must come primarily from those who have an abundance of the world's goods. But unfortunately, too often men and women of means are selected for positions on boards of directors whose sole qualification is their pocket book.

"In line with this we need training courses for boards of directors so as to assure social service its fullest chance in the community reconstruction program.

"Also, let us not forget that society is a unit, that infectitious disease is no respecter of pocketbook and vice no monopoly of the poor. Humanity is humanity wherever it abides and whatever its economic status."

UNIFORM FLAG TO BE ADOPTED

Code of Regulations to Be Formed at Washington Meeting

INDIANAPOLIS, May 24 (United Press).—A definite and uniform code of regulations with regard to the display of the American flag will be adopted at a conference to be held in Washington, June 14 and 15, it was announced at headquarters of the American Legion.

The meeting will be conducted by the Americanism commission of the Legion and will be attended by representatives of the army and navy and more than 50 leading civic and patriotic organizations.

Confusion has been caused by the multiplicity of rules and regulations established by the army, the navy and various other organizations, according to Garland W. Powell, director of the Legions' Americanism commission.

The result has been, he says, that immigrants, children and even adult citizens have subjected the flag to discourtesies through ignorance and not because of any irreverent feelings.

The Legion's object in holding the conference according to Powell, is to decide upon a few simple regulations for adoption by all organizations, thereby bringing about a uniformity of rules throughout the country and elimination of the present misunderstanding.

INSURED FOR MILLIONS

LOS ANGELES (United Press).—There are seven people in Los Angeles carrying life insurance policies of over $1,000,000. They are Arthur Letts, department store owner, $2,000,000; H. L. Arnold, automobile man, $1,200,000; Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, Charley Chaplin, William Wrigley and William M. Armstrong. There are only 30 Americans who have passed the million mark in their life insurance policies.

ARMY AND NAVY TO OFFER FULL CAMPFIRE SET

Progressive Merchants Form Entrancing Setting for Outdoors

The inveterate hiker will feel the temptation to leave the exposition grounds, pay a visit to the Army and Navy store, supply himself with all of the necessities of camping out, and hit the trail for the summer camp when he sees the booth which the Army & Navy store has placed at the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition.

A realistic campfire, camping tents, various improved camping apparatus which have proved invaluable to the excursionist into the mountains and beaches of California, form the scenic attractions of this booth.

The latest in out-door attire will be shown by living models, who will be present througout the exposition. The advantages of the Downey tents, for which the Army & Navy store is agent, will be explained. The Army & Navy store is also to be represented in the exhibit of the Downey Bros., makers of tents, who erected the Exposition tent itself.

Orders will be taken at the booth for tents and other camp equipment, which will be delivered through the store. Lighter equipment will be sold on the grounds.

PERFUME GIVEN BY GRAFT ON PLANTS

French Scientist Finds Way to Give Odor to Odorless

[By Associated Press]

PARIS, May 25. — Professor Daniel of Rennes appears to have discovered a process which will cause to come true Shakespeare's verse: "A rose by any other name would smell as sweet."

By taking two plants of the same species and grafting one on the others, notably a wormwood on a chrysanthemum, he found that not only the grafted wormwood developed remarkably, but its flowers gave off a perfume much more powerful than that of the original plant. Moreover, the chrysanthemum had given to the wormwood flower something of its own scent. Professor Daniel collected the seeds of the grafted wormwood and the following year obtained from them some very fine plants.

Some perfumed flowers were grafted on plants that heretofore had no scent at all and the result has been that the product of the grafting smelt like the original.

FRENCH ISLES HONOR HEROES

PAPEETE, Tahiti, May 25.—With much ceremony and eloquence, some of the highways and byways of Papeete were dedicated recently to the perpetuation of the memory of France's war heroes. Today Papeete rejoices in a "Place du Marechal Joffre," a "Quai du Marechal Foch," and a "Rue du Clemenceau."

Truths in Epigram

No profit grows where is no pleasure ta'en.—Shakespeare.

In the midst of the fountain of wit there arises something bitter which stings in its very flowers.—Lucretius.

Posterity gives to every man his true honor.—Tacitus.

Pleasure much succeed to pleasure, else past pleasure turns to pain.—Browning.

CRIMINAL ACTIVITY

On a recent day two acts of banditry were staged successfully in the streets of Los Angeles. The booty amounted to many thousands. The robbers wounded their victim in one instance, and, pluckily returning their fire, he wounded one of them. The same day a similar act was perpetrated in part at San Francisco. In this case the robbers were beaten off, one being killed, and as they fled, shot and severely injured a policeman. These crimes are duplicated in some city almost every day. It has become a serious hazard to transport money through the streets. Bank messengers and others whose duty requires them to do this, risk their lives every time they start. Surely this is a shameful condition.

The theory that the prevalence of crime is due to the late war is a theory and nothing more. War considered as a whole may be regarded as the greatest of evils, but participants, fighting for principle, or because they are forced to fight, are not to be reckoned as criminal at all. The hundreds of thousands of young Americans who served with the colors, came back and settled into private life, perhaps even better fitted for its responsibilities by reason of their experience. It is a libel on them to say that they have contributed measurably to the deeds of outlawry.

There is a distinct criminal element. It has become much emboldened by immunity, by the ineptness of police, by the leniency of courts, by the tricks of conscienceless attorneys, by the fatuous clemency of parole boards, by the constant bestowal of undeserved probation. It has been encouraged further by stealthy inculcation of the belief that all laws as they are are wrong, property the rightful possession of any able to take it. This is one phase of bolshevism, and has advocates in abundance. The lazy desire the comforts of life, but the thought of toil is appalling to them. To let the other fellow earn the comforts, and then to take them away, is about their notion of things as they should be. Then the growth of the drug habit has eradicated the souls of many, so they cannot distinguish right from wrong, or, making the distinction, choose the wrong.

Contempt for law goes a long way towards explaining social conditions. It is expressed by countless methods. Violation of a constitutional amendment is common; often regarded as a joke, but it sets a fearful example. Labor and capital quarrel, often because of the avarice and unfairness of one side or both, and out of the constantly recurring contests, flows a spirit of discontent that easily takes on the aspect of hatred.

As to the plan of each individual's doing his best, attending to duty as it may appear, and taking a sporting chance as to results, it is being abandoned for the short-cut to the goal. "Oh what's the use?" asks the malcontent, and he elects what seems to him the easier way.

THE COMMON PEOPLE

Speakers and writers have a habit of mentioning the common people. Often the writers, apparently designing the term to be emphasized, say the common "peepul." This is not only an insult to the reader, who is one of the common people, but to some hundred million Americans who also fall within the classification. The common people are the units that make up this nation. They have certain notions as to their own rights, and in expressing these are not properly to be subjected to the penalty of being "peepul" to the censorious scribe, himself one of them.

A lawyer, who has at times been mentioned as a possibility for democratic candidate to the presidency, has seen fit to become counsel for the New York sugar men engaged in litigation with the government. This was his privilege. There is thoroughout the country a belief that the sugar speculators have run the price of the commodity to a height wholly unwarrantable, and to be accounted for only as the expression of an inordinate greed. If the speculators are in danger of being fined or locked up, they are entitled to the protection afforded by a fair trial, and of course entitled to legal services. But remarks a writer, concerning the attorney, "he will be called the tool of the sugar gamblers . . . and the enemy of the American breakfast table. He is well within his rights, but the 'common peepul' would not think so." So it bids him farewell as a political prospect.

When the gentleman accepted a fee for this particular service, he probably was aware of consequences, and perhaps considered these in naming the fee. The common people doubtless will not object to his course. They will discern in it response to a professional call. But they hardly would be in mood to endorse it by trying to make him President. The common people do not approve of the form of speculation involved. They could not get rid of the idea that the defender of this type of speculation would be a poor defender of their interests. In this they may be deemed quite reasonable, and they do not earn the opprobium of appearing in print as "peepul."

"THE SWEEP OF SOCIALISM"

According to Eugene Debs a wave of socialism is sweeping the country, and the "people are soon coming into their own." He goes on to say that there is no enmity between socialism and communism, and to praise the latter as it holds the millions of Russia in its awful clutch.

It is not presumptuous to affirm that Mr. Debs is mistaken. Much of the sympathy he observes is for himself personally, and not for any cause he represents. There is no wave of socialism. The socialist party has been discredited by its own acts. In the time of its country's stress it was disloyal. Most of its members, led into the organization as the possible means of realizing really high and fine ideals, men and women of character and brains, were forced to leave. Mr. Debs, already a zealot in his devotion, was one of the few that stayed. His mind had become fixed. It no longer remained responsive to reasoning. The remnant of the party has sought to become associated with the reds; has flirted with the I. W. W., and with bolshevists. As a cohesive and coherent body able to exercise an appreciable influence its day is over. The verdict must be that of suicide.

When the surviving remnant of socialism proclaims that it has no enmity for communism it has defined its status. It has confessed that it no longer is socialism. Russia is a great menace, or at least at great threat to the peace and prosperity of the world. It has wrecked its own civilization, and it seeks to drag other peoples down to its level of brutality, immorality and ribald defiance of God and all righteousness. The policy of aiding bolshevism to extend its blight, never will be acceptable to the citizens of the United States. They know the taste of liberty, and do not propose to be turned over, bound hand and foot, to such a monstrosity as treads the once mighty Russia into the dust.

If Mr. Debs thinks that socialism, a mere tail to the bolshevist kite, the tool of the unspeakable Lenine and Trotzky, is going to sweep this fair land, it must be concluded that his environment has not been productive of wholesome or logical mental processes.

A good talker is one who knows when to quit.

THE MISCARRIAGE OF ADVICE

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Families and intimates are indignant when those close to them turn to outsiders for advice.

One of the complaints most often heard is that advice given in the interest of somebody has been unheeded; yet the confessional is proof positive of the profound need that people feel of some one to help solve problems that are too complicated for those about whom they center.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

The advice dealt out by families to married couples frequently is a vital factor in hastening separation, but after Cleveland established her bureau of domestic relations with Brodley Hall as official peacemaker, divorce fell off 25 per cent in two years. Why?

First, because the advisor had no personal ax to grind through advice, as members of a family too often have; second, because he advised after the use of his brains and not his prejudices; and third, because those who sought his advice knew that he studied their problem and made an honest effort to unearth the deep rooted cause of the trouble under discussion instead of taking snap judgment in the light of a preconceived rut idea.

It has been my privilege daily for many years to talk to people who need advice and are unwilling to take it from "their folks," "folks" being notoriously unable to actually study any problem of those near them.

For example, one young couple had practically withdrawn confidence from the girl's mother because she insisted that all discord between her daughter and her son-in-law arose from the fact that the boy held a religious belief at variance from that in which her daughter had been reared. No amount of argument could change this fixation, and in consequence no problem in the family could be discussed on its merits.

Then, too, there is the fixed and fatal tendency of relatives and friends to give advice that will soothe instead of that which will reveal the mistakes of one to himself. They fear anger or tears or the loss of friendship or affection. The outsider is not so troubled. His business is to get results and if in the process somebody's feelings are hurt, why they are hurt in the interest of his future welfare.

The matrimonial peacemaker of Cleveland gives meddlesome relatives full credit for many divorces and in this case, meddling relatives are simply relatives who butt in and advise, wrongly, to be sure, but persistently and enthusiastically.

Advice columns flourish on every paper which once introduces them. Lawyers' offices are always thronged with clients seeking advice and, if the truth could be known, I'll wager that the calm, disinterested, wise advice of the Catholic priests has as much to do with the low divorce rate among their flocks as religious conviction.

The domestic relations courts of the future will be largely places where disagreeing husbands and wives can be induced to be honest with each other and where they can then discuss their difficulties with a person who has no interest in advising them save the unselfish one of helping to the best possible adjustment of their difficulties.

Advice miscarries because those who receive it suspect the motives of those who give it, or their wisdom or their judgment. It is a rare and wonderful character who can live close to a problem without allowing his prejudices to effect his views of it.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON

"ME" OR "I" AFTER "TO BE?"

(Find the error in this article)

One of the difficult problems in English is to determine whether I or me is the right word in such a sentence as the following: "He believes the lawyer to be (I or me?)."

First, glance at the following: "He believes that the lawyer is I or me?)."

The right words for these two sentences are me and I, respectively.

Two more examples follow: I wanted the manager to be him; I hoped that the manager would be he.

Did you observe that such a construction as "lawyer to be" is followed by me; and that such a construction as "lawyer is" is followed by I?

Again, note the following examples: "I understood the president of the club to be her"; "I understood that the president of the club was she.

This article does not finish the discussion of this problem, which will be brought up again at a later date.

Yesterday's Error

Wrong: It is apparent, then, that one should not say "He is taller than me."

Right: It is evident, then, that one should not say "He is taller than me."

In yesterday's text, a concrete example was given as evidence that me is the wrong word, I being correct, in the sentence, "He is taller than me." Therefore, the right word is evident, not apparent.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W FOLEY

A lift on the road.
Perhaps you remember the old days.
Before the motor car.
Before the paved highway.

When the farmer hauled his produce to market over a dusty and cloddy road.

A pair of stout horses drew a wagon.

And up on a seat set up on springs was the driver.

Progress was not as rapid as now.

Instead of twenty or thirty miles an hour it was three or four.

Sometimes the road was heavy with mud.

And pulling was hard and progress slower.

And the stout old horses thrust their shoulders deeper into the collars and dug their hoofs into the mud.

Or perhaps there was the driver of the old-fashioned buggy.

The surrey or the piano-box buggy, with the team or the single horse.

In the little socket in the corner was the tall whip with the lash on it.

And the wagon or buggy skimmed along the road at a six or seven-mile an hour pace.

The whole world was different then.

Communities twenty miles apart were separate and distinct.

Because people did not lightly undertake a twenty or thirty-mile journey.

That means five or six hours of travel.

Instead of forty-five minutes as now.

* * *

Thus a mechanical device like the motor can change the nature of living.

Bring people from a radius of a hundred miles together.

Make them more neighborly.

Which is perhaps one of the chief values of the motor car.

And that more a matter of social value than of financial value.

But to get back to the old days.

Perhaps you were a youngster then.

Of seven or eight or ten years of age.

And you made a long journey of two or three miles to the wood or the brook or the picnic grounds.

And two or three miles is a long journey on little legs.

Think how often those brown feet have to be picked up and set down and picked up again to cover a mile of distance.

* * *

And as you were plodding homeward along toward the close of the afternoon, leg weary and dusty and worn, someone came by with a heavy wagon or a spring wagon or even a buggy.

Saw you plodding along the road.

And cried you a cheery: "Want a lift?"

Which you did more than anything on earth.

* * *

Up you came over the side of the wagon.

Or into the buggy with one bare foot on the hub to help you with a spring upward.

Or into the back end of the spring wagon.

And there you placed yourself and reveled in the luxury of transportation.

Softer than any Pullman car seat was the big sack on which you placed yourself.

Smoother than any modern limousine ran the old buggy.

You got a lift.

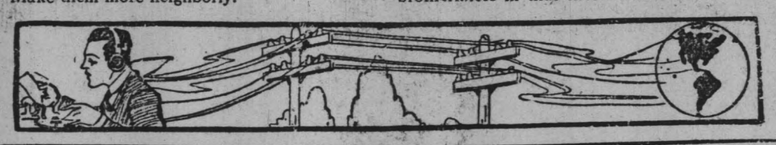
And what a splendid thing that is in times of weariness and stress.

Somebody to help you along the road.

To let you rest your legs and feet and mind perhaps.

A lift!

There is a world of real humanity and brotherliness in that short word.



Songs of the Poets

All Saints—By Edmund Yates

In a church which is furnished with mullion and gable,
With altar and reredos, with gargoyle and groin,
The penitents' dresses are sealskin and sable,
The odor of sanctity's eau-de-cologne.

But only could Lucifer, flying from Hades,
Gaze down on this crowd with its paniers and paints,
He would say, as he looked at the lords and the ladies,
"Oh, where are All Sinners' if this is All Saints'?"

THE GHINESE WAY

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE other day an intelligent traveller returned from China. In a speech at the Metropolitan Club in New York he used the following language:

"Why is it that in China, among a very large part of her people, ready and willing and anxious to work and capable of doing good work, there is so much poverty?

"It is because there is little demand for labor in China. The supply of labor is so great in all parts of China and the demand so small that a Chinese laborer, who receives an average per day equivalent to ten cents in our money, is among the very fortunate; and with that pittance he often clothes and feeds several people, old and young.

"Why is there so little demand for labor?

"It is because China lacks a government that protects Chinese in the establishment and operation of industrial enterprises which would produce an ever-increasing demand for Chinese labor and lessen the poverty that is so general. Instead of governmental protection of those who attempt to conduct manufacturing and other industrial enterprises, there is too often, if not generally, official extortion practised upon them; and consequently there is little extension of industrial enterprises in China outside the limited areas which have some measure of foreign protection, such as the so-called concessions in Shanghai and Tien-tsin."

In other words there are few great industrial enterprises outside of the coast cities of China for the reason that if a man starts a manufacturing business the government pounces on him as a criminal and takes away his profits.

But why throw bricks at China? We are doing the same thing here more and more.

A newspaper item the other day stated that Henry Ford's profits were around fifty million dollars a year and that his income tax is about 58 per cent.

The reason of this is that when the average moron in or out of the legislature hears that any man is making fifty million dollars a year, it arouses a spirit of anger and envy.

And the income tax law is the expression of the envy and the whole inferiority complex of the ignorant masses finding voice in ignorant legislators.

They never stop to inquire how a man made his fifty millions, nor what he is doing with them. Henry Ford is probably doing more for humanity and for his country than any other single individual in it, for he is not distributing his profits in charity, but is using them in giving people work. Thousands of people are engaged in wholesome occupation, supporting their families and bringing up healthy and intelligent children because of Mr. Ford's millions.

Instead of rewarding the man who does this for the people, we penalize him. The income tax means penalizing success.

It is in line with the general Bolshevik idea that all success is criminal.

Our government, through the income tax, does all in its power to drive superior, creative, and executive minds out of business.

Mr. Schwab said some time ago that he could quit business, invest his money in municipal bonds, and greatly increase his income.

Mr. Ford could stop his factories, turn all his working people adrift, and buy street, sewer and municipal bonds with his money, and make more than he is now making for himself.

In other words, we say that if he will quit doing good and will become a sycophant and an idler he shall be protected, and if he keeps on doing good he shall be punished.

The income tax is the Chinese way of running a government.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

A WORTHY SOLDIER

[Cleveland Plain Dealer]

One of the measures enacted by the general assembly of Ohio, now recessed, was a joint resolution directing the adjutant general to see that this state is properly represented at the burial in Arlington of Colonel Charles Young, a native of Ohio and the only colored American ever to attain his rank in the regular army. It is a merited public tribute to a race which has borne its part through every war in which the United States has engaged with high credit to itself and to the country.

Colonel Young was a West Point graduate. In the war with Spain he was a lieutenant of cavalry in the regular army, but was assigned to command the Ninth battalion of infantry, national guard, and brought it to a state of conspicuous fitness. Thereafter he served in the Philippines, on the Mexican border and in the late war. He died still in line of duty in Liberia.

The body of Colonel Young is expected to reach this country some time toward the latter part of May. It is a fitting climax to the career of this Ohio soldier and officer that the burial will be made on or near Memorial day.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

The other day a judge in Los Angeles sentenced "Tuffy" Lewis to be hanged. The prisoner had been guilty of murder. His short career had been crowded with many minor crimes. Only twenty now, the shadow of the gallows is over him.

HENRY LEWIS

There is no excuse that may be advanced for the prisoner. He had every chance that falls to the son of a respectable American family. From far back, perhaps there was a taint in his blood. At any rate he chose a life of evil, and now he approaches the end.

Lewis on the stand had no defense to make save that before the murder he had taken "a shot of dope." He was a drug fiend. He began the habit at the age of fourteen. That was his fatal step. He started then on the journey the end of which nears.

The melancholy spectacle of this worse than wasted life holds a lesson wide in its application. It sets forth vividly that the vender of illicit drugs, the promoter of addiction, is the real criminal. Were strict justice done the dope peddler would be held equally responsible with the principal in any crime inspired by the use of illicit drugs sold by him. He should be in jail with the petty thief, in prison with the burglar, and stand on the trap with the assassin.

There is prospect of another war between Greece and Italy. The one these two powers enjoyed recently was secretly promoted by Lloyd George. He cheered the Greeks on, but had never a cheer for them as they came clattering back to avoid the crescent blades.

Probably a fresh engagement would not find the larger nations holding completely aloof. The love they seemed for a while to have for Turkey was but a fleeting passion.

Switzerland declines to join with Russia in mourning the late Vorovsky. This is the man who was killed while in the former country. The soviets think he should have been entitled to protection.

Vorovsky was in Switzerland as the representative of the soviets. He was not a welcome guest, although entitled to exactly the protection of another individual. Society does seek to protect the individual, but nevertheless a murderous shot occasionally hits the mark.

The slayer will be duly tried under Swiss law. Whatever the outcome, it is not likely to be framed with any idea of pleasing the evil forces for which the man had been agent.

Happily nature has so arranged matters that there cannot be occasion for Texas to undertake the job.

Some people have objected to the view concerning "Babbitt" that appeared in this column. The essence of the view was that the book was worse than useless. No desire has been stirred to take back a word of the condemnation.

It is true that the types presented could be found in an American city, or in any city. The effort of the author was to show that these, instead of being exceptional types, represented prevailing American character. Were this the case, Americans would be a collection of rogues, liars and slimy hypocrites, devoid of decent ambitions, their aims gross, their work futile, and their culture a ridiculous pretense.

Americans are far from perfect. It cannot be denied that they buy Sinclair Lewis' books, and have other faults besides, but they are not the babbling morons he portrays.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

The Mussus gave me a sharp talking to last night. It was coming to me. I had the meanest, nastiest, sneeriest grouch possible. I've been in sackcloth and ashes ever since.

It began at dinner time. I was tired, my feet were wet, my eyes ached, and two or three good things had gone wrong. So I felt like spilling a little venom on some one. Experience has taught me that there are no dividends to be gained by this process when we are alone, but that when others are present I can get away with my rough stuff. And others were to be present. We were to go to dinner and then to the theater.

And I said all the mean little things I could think of. I covered 'em up by the pretense of humor. Whenever I said anything I knew would hurt her I laughed. At last My Lady told me to stop hurting her feelings and I did—with a crash. I'm a coward that way. If I had had true moral courage I would have gone on being nasty. If it was decent before she turned on me it was decent afterward. When we got home that night she said:

"I had been looking forward to this evening for a week. I sang all afternoon at the thought of the fun we were to have. I dressed myself with unusual care. I thought that you would—possibly—have a word to say about my looks. You might even suggest that I looked as pretty as I did years ago when we were married."

Then she cried. Not tears of rage. But suppressed, quiet, heart-broken tears. I'm sorry. I'm as sorry as I can be. Perhaps the next time that things go wrong downtown I will not make myself detestable at home.

But the time after the next time I'll probably be back to form.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

After one has looked at a color for a few moments the eye becomes adapted to that color and is no longer able to distinguish small differences. When matching dress goods you should not look at the materials longer than a minute at a time if you want a close match.

Scientific observations have not confirmed the popular idea that certain kinds of plants keep away mosquitoes. Plant to which this virtue has been ascribed include several species of eucalyptus, the castor-oil plant and the chinaberry.

SIMON BRICK CO. TO SHOW HOW IT MAKES PRODUCT

Largest Plant of its Kind in the World to Exhibit Goods

The Simon Brick company, owning the largest common brick plant in the world, at Simons, Cal., and also operating a plant at 125 West Third street, Los Angeles, with a daily capacity of 750,000 bricks, in addition to roofing tile and hollow building tile, is to have a conspicuous part in Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition.

The daily capacity of the common brick plant at Simons is 600,000. Owing to the remoteness of the location of this plant it was necessary for the company to provide dwellings and such facilities as make for the comfort and convenience of the employees so that in addition to the factory and a large machine shop where repairs to machinery and trucks are made, there is a station on the A., T. & S. F. Railway, a large general store, money order post office, 273 houses and two boarding houses to shelter a population of about 1100. A grammar school with nearly 300 pupils, a church, recreation hall and motion picture show, modern bath houses, pool room and other pastimes. Many of the young people attending high school from these houses were at the plant.

The Simons Brick company employs a total of more than 500 employees and carries a payroll of $70,000. Three of the officials of the company are making their homes in Glendale. These are R. F. Isitt, vice-president; H. B. Howith, secretary, and J. T. Crampton, treasurer. R. S. Isitt, son of R. F. Isitt, is also connected with the firm.

A total of sixty trucks are now in use at this plant, which is a unique and interesting institution. Forced to go outside the city for clay, because of rapidly increasing demands for their products, 223 acres of land were purchased on which the present plant was started in 1906 and after being added to from time to time, was increased 50 per cent during the past year and now has a daily capacity of 600,000 brick, making it the largest plant of its kind in the country, acording to national authorities. These trucks form a part of a fleet of thirteen international trucks doing daily service hauling brick from Simons Brick Company's plant No. 5 at Simons, California, just outside of Los Angeles on the main line of the A., T. & S. F. Railroad.

MONKEY HOUSE IS MINUS ITS TOPER BABBOON INMATE

PORTLAND, May 25.—(United Press).—Sorrow hangs heavy over the monkey house at Washington Park Zoo, for Joe, the old one-eyed baboon, dean of all the captives in the zoo, is dead.

Among the human population, too, many an old-timer regrets the passing of Joe, for 20 years ago, he was as widely known as any of the inhabitants.

Of unknown age and ancestry, Joe passed from the ownership of a sailor and became the mascot of the Lambert saloon. Although quite temperate in his habits, Joe could often be induced to join the patrons of the saloon in a glass of beer. His old friends say that always he could "carry his liquor like a gentleman," but his temper became shorter with every drink he took. Then must his drinking companions be wary indeed, for at the slightest offense Joe would hurl a wine glass, a beer schooner, a bottle, or whatever was closest to hand, with deadly accuracy.

He was finally charged with being a disorderly character, and sentenced to life behind the bars of the zoo cage when he raided the Rybke residence on Clay street.

Dr. Charles Rybke, then many years younger, was sleeping in a tent in the bakyard when Joe arrived. Joe awakened Rybke by sitting on the side of the youngster's cot, making faces and screeching in a terrifying manner. When the boy sprang from his bed and sprinted for the house, Joe was at his heels, and before the kitchen door could be slammed the baboon was inside.

A dark green bottle was the first familiar thing Joe saw. Grabbing it, he took a long pull. Instead of the wine he expected, the bottle contained strong vinegar. Then Joe cast off all restraint from his manners. Everything within reach that was movable crashed to the floor.

Police reserves, fire department and the dog catcher all were summoned. But before Joe could be captured the interior of the Rybke home was wrecked.

Lambert, the former owner of the saloon and Joe, declares that the old baboon never forgot his friends, and that just a few days before Joe died he rushed eagerly to the bars of his cage to greet Lambert, who had climbed the hill to see his old pet, and give him a chew of tobacco.

HOG FOODLESS FOR TWO MONTHS

[By Associated Press]

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, May 25.—C. J. Carlson, local rancher, owns a hog which recently went 68 days without food or water. The animal fell into a badger hole and it was more than two months before Carlson found it, alive, but weighing only 60 pounds instead of 225, its weight upon disappearance. Carlson nursed the hog, and now, he says, it is nearly back to normal.

NEW ELEMENT IS UNDER CHEMISTS' INVESTIGATION

[By Associated Press]

COPENHAGEN, May 24.—Professor Nils Bohr, the discoverer of the new element, hafnium, has now determined its atomic weight. The element, which was named in honor of the city of Copenhagen, is still not completely isolated but the professor's efforts in this direction are nearing completion. The connection of the element with zirconium, a kindred element, has made investigations exceedingly difficult, but Professor Bohr has been able to ascertain that the atomic weight lies between 179 and 181.

Five of the 92 elements existent remain to be discovered.

As a result of his experiments Professor Bohr has discovered that hafnium is impenertable by Rontgen rays. He asserts that it has the good qualities of bismuth, which is used in connection with Roentgen-ray experiments, but none of the bad ones, and the discovery is expected to be of considerable value to medical science.

DIRECT ACTION TO FEATURE EXHIBIT

Biscuits and Cake to Demonstrate Open Bottom Principle

The uses of the oven heat regulators on the "direct action, no bottom in oven" ranges, will be explained by Mrs. H. Border, demonstrator and instructor, at the booth of Coker & Taylor, plumbers which holds a prominent position at the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition.

Baking demonstrations will take place, and free samples of biscuits and cake will be distributed in order to illustrate the baking properties of the "no bottom in oven" range. Mrs. Border will also explain the uses of the Lorain heat controller for the oven, and all housewives are invited to ask any questions.

Included in the display of the Coker & Taylor firm, will be plumbing fixtures and other household necessities. In front of the booth, a drink fountain has been installed for demonstration purposes, and also for the convenience of the public. This firm is responsible for the installation of all plumbing at the exposition grounds, a job of considerable proportions.

MAHOGANY MAY GROW IN L. A.

[By Associated Press]

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 25.—California, already famous for its forests of giant redwoods, may in time also boast of its vast acreage of mahogany, according to officials of the United States forest service, who are watching the growth of seedlings planted here a year ago at the suggestion of Rev. Coleman C. Hartzler, African missionary.

Mr. Hartzler, when he arrived in this country to begin a 12 months' leave of absence, brought with him a large number of mahogany seeds. He was convinced that mahogany trees would thrive in this state, since they require practically the same climate as oranges.

BIG GAS TANK KILS ONE EXPLODING

[By Associated Press]

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 24.—One life was lost and for a time the entire community was threatened when an explosion and fire wrecked an 80,000 gallon tank of gasoline in the center of the plant of the Wofford Oil Company here early today.

Two million gallons of gasoline and crude oil were stored within 150 feet of the tank that exploded.

The loss was placed at $40,000. A negro, said to have been working near the tank, was killed. His body was not recovered.

EASY MONEY POINTS TO HIGHER BOND PRICES

Roger W. Babson Sees Opportunity for Investors During the Balance of the Year

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., May 25.—"Should the investor buy long term bonds now or wait in hope of getting them at lower prices?"

The question is uppermost in the minds of the investing public. A gain of two points in conservative bonds since last March has been welcome enough, but there seems to be a great deal of discussion as to whether it is the beginning of the long swing upward or whether it will be offset by another reaction such as that ruling in the bond market of the first three months of this year.

Roger W. Babson's statement on the situation, issued today, presents evidence which deserves careful consideration by everyone interested in the future of investment securities.

"Money rates are easy," according to Mr. Babson, "and will continue at about their present position for some time to come.

"January saw commercial paper at 4½ per cent on the average. In February it rose to 4¾ per cent. March brought it slightly above 5 per cent. In April it ruled at 5⅛ per cent. Early May brought it back to 5 per cent. Present indications are that it will continue at about this same level throughout the summer. Time loans have been made by the banks on about this same basis, while mortgage money is available in the east at 5 per cent to 6 per cent.

"From the point of view of the bond market this easing in money rates indicates a slackening in the demand for commercial loans, an increase in reserve on the part of our banks and a shrinking up of the increased credit necessary to finance the sudden spurt in business at the beginning of this year. Since it is the habit of our banks to invest surplus funds in bonds as reserves grow, and to liquidate these bonds when commercial banks of the country have turned from a policy of selling their holdings to a policy of buying them back again. While there are no figures available on the effect that bank purchases and sales have on the general investment market, it stands to reason that the banks represent the largest single customer for bonds in the country and that their position must have an effect on bond prices. When the banks were selling they not only removed their purchasing power from the bond market but flooded it with their own holdings. When they reversed this position the stream of bonds that has been coming into the market from the banks is shut off and they offer purchasing power not only for new but also for old issues. As long as they are buying and holding their bonds, prices cannot very well go below present levels, and should evidence a slight strengthening.

"When we examine the outlook as to the possibility of the banks changing their present position we see but two factors which might cause such a shift during the balance of the year.

"If in reaching the peak of its long swing bull movement, the stock market develops into a feverish spurt, it may be necessary for certain of our banking interests to liquidate bond holdings in order to provide the cash necessary for stock loans on a higher price level. This might cause a temporary sag in bond prices which would be recovered as the flurry subsided. If the advance in the stock market does not develop into a spree of speculation but proceeds on an orderly basis it probably will have a slight effect upon bond prices.

"The other factor to be considered is that of crop moving which our financial machinery beginning about the first of August and ending the latter part of October. This seasonal demand for additional credit may force commercial rates up a fraction, probably not more than one-half of one percent. This probably will cause a slight recession in bond prices. It may not, however, offset an advance that is possible between now and that time.

"All present indications point to easier money and higher bond prices during 1924. I doubt very much whether it will be possible to buy good investment bonds next year at anywhere near their present levels. From the long swing point of view statistics clearly indicate that the general trend of bond prices will be upward over the next fifteen to twenty years.

"From the investors' point of view the present bond market offers a real opportunity. Prices may react slightly on either of the two developments outlined above, but I am not at all sure that the investor who waits and tries to pick these exact low points will save enough to make up for the interest he may lose in the meantime. If you are buying securities for a regular income I suggest that you buy sound, long term bonds now, and that you continue to buy them for the remainder of 1923 as funds become available."

General business is holding its own in spite of the slackening of trade in some lines. The index of the Babsonchart shows general activity at 5 per cent above normal—within one point of the high point for this year.

Lieutenant Macready and Bride He Won by Non-Stop Flight from Coast to Coast

Breaking flying records is just part of the army routine with Lieut. John A. Macready. He and Lieut. Oakley G. Kelly had set new endurance and altitude marks before they flew from New York to San Diego without a stop. Macready's greatest reward for his latest accomplishment was the hand of Miss Nelliejay Turner, formerly of Columbus, O., an old friend of the Macready family. After the excitement over the record-making flight had subsided, the couple slipped away to Macready's home in Los Angeles and were married.

LABOR CONDITIONS IN ENGLAND ARE VERY BAD

So British Trade Boards Secretary Reports Here

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 25.—"Labor conditions over a wide area of modern industry are intolerable to a free man and inconsistent with his human dignity. Social workers must declare war upon them and upon the motive to gain from which these conditions spring. The function of industry is not to fill the pockets of employers and financiers; it is to minister to the high purposes of life," declared James J. Mallon of London, honorary secretary of the advisory council of British trade boards, in an address at the evening general session of the industry program at the national conference of social work here tonight. Mr. Mallon, who is also head worker of Toynbee hall, London, and was one of the prime movers in the enactment of the British trade boards act, spoke on the subject, "Public Interest in Industrial Organization." The theme of Mr Mallon's address was, how can industry fulfill the functions of production, pay adequate dividends and yet conserve the life and health of workers?

"The social worker," he said, "has a vision of a society in which men and women will not any longer be bruised or overthrown, in which children will be cared for, and the good things of this life more evenly shared than they are today. He sees a society in which there will be no overwork, no underpayment, no denial of the facilities which human beings need for their reasonable expansion and happiness, no ignorance, no avertible pain. He has a vision of a world in which there shall be freedom and beauty; where men will be associated in a great co-operation to augment the happiness and blessedness of all.

"How can this dream be realized if, as is the case today, industry is disordered by feuds between employers who hire men when there is profit to be made out of them and discard them when there is none, and employes who object to being hired and discarded and as long as they are so treated will give to industry only such service as necessity compels? The answer of the social worker is plain. If industry is in the future to hurt and throw down none; if it is to remember the humanity of the worker, respect his personality, safeguard his strength, develop his intelligence, enlarge his status and dignity, its motive must be transmuted. It must aim not at making a profit but at serving mankind.

"The social worker, with the ideals which he cherishes and with his long, practical experience in the combat of social ills, is forced by the nature of his task more and more to take a leading part in this re-orientation of our industrial life."

LOW BUILDING CO. TO SHOW FILM AT BOOTH

Well Known Glendale Concern to Show Ready Cut Homes Movie

What is expected to be one of the most interesting attractions at the Industrial Exposition is the presentation of a two-reel motion picture film under the auspices of the Low Building Company. This well-known home building concern has erected a special structure within the exhibition tent where the film is to be presented continuously during the hours of the show.

The presentation of the film will be in reality a preview as it is to be placed on permanent exhibition beginning June 4 at the exhibition grounds of Pacific Ready-Cut Homes, Incorporated, Los Angeles.

The local distributors of ready-cut homes were fortunate in securing exhibition rights to the film during Industrial show week and no initial charge will be made.

The film deals with every phase of home building and has been produced under the direction of one of the Hollywood studios. It begins with the hewing of the huge redwoods in the northern forests and shows the many interesting operations required to convert the log into a finished home. More than 700 people were required to produce the films and most of the scenes were laid in the ready-cut firm's factory at Slauson and Boyle avenues, Los Angeles.

An added feature of interest will be a contest staged to secure a suitable title for the photoplay. The film is now nameless and prizes aggregating $100 cash are to be presented to lucky contestants submitting the most appropriate titles. Entry blanks are to be distributed at the Industrial Exposition by officials of the Low Building Company and anyone who is not affiliated with Pacific Ready-Cut Homes, Incorporated; or its distributing concerns can enter titles. The contest is to close June 20, and prizes awarded as soon after that date as possible. The contest is to be open to the public at large and this is an opportunity for local contestants to try their talent in picking a suitable name for the film.

Joseph A. Eliason, producer for the World Educational Films, featuring Baby Betty, has volunteered to make motion pictures of the young ladies in the Queen Contest, the Fashion Review and the exposition officials. These films will be immediately developed, printed and will be shown at the Low Building company's motion picture theatre in their booth in connection with the title contest.

The man who frankly admits that he doesn't know, prevents many useless arguments.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 24.—Eight thousand women are expected to attend the international quadrennial convention of the Woman's Benefit association, scheduled to open here May 28. One of the striking features of the gathering will be a massed procession of more than 1000 uniformed women and girls, to be staged May 29 at Occidental college.

Supreme officers of the association from the United States, Canada, Hawaiian islands, and delegates representing a membership of 280,000 women have already begun to arrive.

OBSERVATIONS

BY A GLENDALE OLD TIMER

Sometimes when a word or phrase is adopted from a foreign language, a laughable blunder is made that is never corrected. One such, of rather ancient vintage, is matinee from the French word "matin," meaning morning, yet it is used universally now to designate an afternoon performance. On the other hand soiree, from the French word "soir," evening, is correctly used as the name of an evening function. The latest misconstruction is the name of a society of A. E. F. boys who had the extreme and oft repeated pleasure, when on the move, of occupying the diminutive cars on the French railways used ordinarily to transport horses. The capacity of each car was 8 horses and it was found that a tightly packed load of humanity was 40 men. So the cars became known as the "8-horses or 40-men" cars. When the organization was started the name given it was "La Societe des Huit Chevaux ou Huitieme Hommes," that is "The Society of 8 horses or 40 men." But in some way the conjunction was changed from "ou" to "et," that is from "or" to "and," so now the organization seems to be generally known as La Societe des 8 Chevaux et 40 Hommes," quite a laughable change, as the capacity of the cars was tested to the limit by either class of the designated freight, so they could certainly never have carried the double load, of horses and men, as the name indicates.

I understand a "voiture" of the society may be organized in Glendale.

Did you ever wonder if the title of a book had anything to do with its popularity? Don't you suppose that such titles as "Trail of the Lonesome Pine," "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," "To Have and to Hold," "Prisoners of Hope," Quincy Adams Sawyer," "In the Palace of the King" and "When Knighthood Was in Flower," stimulated the curiosity of prospective readers and further impelled them to investigate the contents? A curious story is told of the naming of the book last mentioned. The author, Chas. Major of Shelbyville, Ind., was a new candidate for literary honors and this was his first real novel. The story was written, gone over again and again and finally considered as ready to go to the publishers. But no name for it had been decided upon. "The Memoirs of Edwin Caskoden," was considered, and "Charles Brandon Duke of Suffolk," as well, the author rather inclining to the latter. One evening Mr. Major was going over the subject with a friend who had come to spend the evening. He asked the friend what he thought of the last-named title. It did not strike him favorably, however. He was idly turning over the leaves of the completed manuscript when his eyes lighted upon the inscription which will be found on one of the introductory pages of every volume of the work in print: "There lived a knight when knighthood was in flower, Who charmed alike the tilt-yard and the Bower."

"There," he exclaimed, "is your title, 'When Knighthood Was in Flower.' You couldn't find a more fitting one." Major instantly agreed and the romantic name, skilfully played up in advertisements of the new book, stimulated a curiosity to read the same and the rare merit of the work caused it to spring into instant popularity, which has never waned.

In 1900, Long Beach, the original name of which was Wilmore City, boasted 2500 inhabitants. By 1910 the population had increased to 17,500, a gain of 600 per cent, the greatest of any city in the United States. The population is now estimated at 90,000, which gives it a 3500 per cent increase over 1900. That year Glendale, a little settlement clustering around the intersection of Glendale avenue and Third street, could boast of possibly 1000 people. Now it has 40,-0000, an increase of 3900 per cent. These facts amply prove Glendale's claim to the slogan originated here two years or more ago, "The fastest growing city in America," which Long Beach is endeavoring to appropriate.

Considerable indignation was expressed by dealers and motorists when some of the drivers in the annual "Economy Run" from Los Angeles to Yosemite were stopped by motor cops of a northern county for violating the traffic law by speeding their cars at 55 miles an hour and more on the public highways. The violators should consider themselves lucky if they are not sentenced to spend several days in jail. They cannot deny that they knowingly and willfully violated the law and thereby endangered life and property. Simply because they were piloting cars in an attempt to advertise the economy features of certain autos, gives them no immunity over other offenders. We Americans must get down to the fact that all laws are enacted to be obeyed on every occasion, not simply when we find it expedient to observe them. That is the only way to stop crime waves.

I do not think much of the jury system, strongly entrenched as it is in the customs of the country. I believe the cause of justice would fare much better if all cases were tried before three or five judges. A shrewd lawyer who cares nothing for the truth and who considers it his duty to a client to bring out all evidence, even some that is manufactured, that will aid his side and suppress as much as possible that will help his opponent, can bamboozle most any jury. Then, if the opposing lawyer is equally shrewd, the members of the jury become hopelessly confused in the battle of lies, and are easily led astray when the "summing up" is made, especially if the lawyers are brilliant actors, as many are, capable of making words and phrases take on meanings never intended. Judges, who have most of them been lawyers and who know all the trickiness practiced by the craft, could not be swayed by flashy oratory. Then the usual procedure in selecting a jury is to get if possible, persons who have no opinions, who do not read newspapers and who can be easily swayed by eloquent pleading. If lawyers told only the truth and were as much concerned about having justice done as in winning a case, by trickery or otherwise, the jury system would doubtless suffice. And it has come about that jurors, accustomed to hearing lawyers falsify evidence and juggle with justice, do not regard their oaths as sacred. Each juror swears to try the case by the law and the evidence, yet in many instances the evidence is entirely disregarded. For instance, in the Herrin, Ill., murder cases, the evidence conclusively proved many foul murders had been committed, yet every juror perjured himself and declared the defendants innocent. Several years ago an attempt was made to punish violators of the Sunday closing law in Chicago, where saloons never closed their doors though the law plainly declared all must close at 1 a. m. Several saloon keepers were arrested and brought to trial. They did not deny their guilt and besides, all the evidence given was to the effect that they brazenly defied the law, yet in every case the jurors, despite their solemn oath to decide each case on the law and the evidence, cheerfully perjured themselves and brought in verdicts of equittal. This is our boasted jury system. It can never be a success until law schools teach that the lawyer owes, above and beyond his duty to a client, fealty to his country's laws, a rigid adherence to the principles of justice and an effort to bring out all the evidence even if his own side of the question suffers thereby; until judges sharply rebuke all attempts to suppress evidence, browbeat witnesses and intimidate jurors; until jurors learn that the oath taken is a sacred one, to be observed at all costs. Very few witnesses are allowed to tell the entire facts in their possession, though they are forced to take an oath or affirmation that they will tell "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth." In big trials there is a constant battle between attorneys to suppress certain evidence which it is thought will prove damaging, so it is very seldom that any witness can observe his oath by telling the "whole truth."

Householders who buy strawberries or other berries from street venders should insist on examining the fruit to see that no green or moldy berries are in the bottom of the box. It is well to weigh the boxes, too, and if they are found short notify the police at once so that other people may not be swindled. The ordinary strawberry box and the new kind, higher but smaller in circumference, should weigh with the fruit, full 12 ounces. Of four boxes bought of a street peddler Tuesday on Lomita avenue, three weighed 11 ounces each and the fourth but 10½ ounces. Unluckily the boxes were not weighed until after the peddler had gone, so he was not apprehended, and, of course, swindled everyone he sold to. The shallow boxes that raspberries always come in, and frequently blackberries and loganberries, are required to weigh 8 ounces each.

There is one sure way for the homeliest woman to instantly become "entrancingly lovely," merely "pretty" or "very handsome." She has but to commit a crime or become involved in a scandal of some kind, and all the newspaper reporters will vie with each other in transforming her into a vision of beauty. Even if her likeness published in the papers shows her to be devoid of feminine charm, the reporters' enthusiasm is not quenched and they still picture her as possessed of many beauties. But history proves that not all the sirens who have seduced great men from the ways of rectitude have been possessed of beauty. Mme. de Maintenon, favorite and concubine of one of France's great monarchs, was a woman of no physical charm, but with a mind of unusual brilliance. There are many similar examples. In our own country, about 40 years ago, a man of the proudest southern lineage, distinguished congressman and leader of men, threw away all his brilliant prospects for love of a woman of few, if any, attractions, judged by common standards. This was Congressman W. C. P. Breckenridge of Kentucky, a man of unusual attainments, a speaker of such magnetic force that he was called "the silver-tongued orator." He was about 65 years of age and at the very height of an unusually brilliant career, when he became infatuated with a pale, slender young woman of 25, Madeline Pollard, who looked up to him as a child to its father, for he was a friend of her family. She had no pretensions to beauty of face or form, yet he became so infatuated that he led her from the path of virtue, thereby losing the respect of all good people and ending his career of usefulness. He died in comparative obscurity, after a long and losing fight against a suit for maintenance by the victim of his wiles, who seems to have been a young woman of exemplary character before he led her into sin. Though she won her suit and was awarded $15,000 damages, it was a barren victory, as he was a bankrupt.

If we are to believe what we see on the screen when the "secrets of Hollywood" are bared to the public in films, the director must be a man of limitless talent. He has to not only see that all the stage environment is correct but he must show the lover how to make love properly, the "loveress" how to respond, the comedians, male and female, how to be funny, the murderer how to slay his victim and the latter how to die gracefully. When one witnesses such transcendent ability shown by a mere man he is reminded of the schoolmaster in Goldsmith's "Deserted Village," of whom it was written:

"They gazed and gazed and still the wonder grew, That one small head could contain all he knew."

It is probable the all-wise director also conducts a school for teaching actors and actresses, especially the former, "How to properly light a cigaret," and another on how to pull off a stage fight, as such combats are all along the same lines. First the hero is knocked down, or slammed against the wall, then the villian gets his tumble, and so they alternate until finally the hero, who may be a weak, anaemic-looking shrimp, while the villain is a two-fisted giant, shoots out a mighty wallop that ends the gory scene. Great stuff!

MOVIE WAR ON PACIFIC ISLE

[By Associated Press]

PAPEETE, Tahiti, May 25.—Papeete is now in the throes of a moving picture war, due to the efforts of an ambitious local merchant to establish a monopoly of the exhibition end of the industry.

The merchant got control of three moving picture houses after building a new one of his own. He then proceeded to cut down expenses and one of his first acts was to dismiss the Casino band. The Casinos, composed mainly of members of one family forming a large clan on Tahiti, considered this an affront to their art and their family honor, and built a theatre large enough to house the entire movie population of Papeete.

PENDROY'S TO FEATURE GIFT DISPLAY

Things One Might Give Brides of June to Be Shown Daintily

A thing of beauty and a feast for the eyes is the exhibit shown by Pendroy's department store, at the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition. This display is an elaborately furnished living room, dining room, and bed room forming the bridal chamber.

Excellence of taste is shown in every detail, from the minutest article of furniture to the most important. The work of an artist in arranging the home furnishings is evident throughout, and is directly creditable to the ingenuity of Wm. A. Baker, buyer for the furniture department at Pendroy's.

The living room presents a handsome overstuffed set, that mutely invites one to enter and bide a while. A solid walnut dining room set occupies the central position adjoining.

The table is set with fine Haviland china and the new Paradise pattern in silver. Centering the table, the wedding cake will be seen with its snowy icing and festive decorations. When looking at this display, one is tempted to wait for the appearance of the bridal party, as the idea of the bridal suite is carried out in a realistic manner.

The bedroom s also furnished in solid walnut. Chairs and dresser, are shown here under the mellow glow of the boudoir lamp shade. Floor lamps in the dining and living room also cast their cheering rays over the display, giving an added effect of beauty and charm to the whole arrangement.

To show that the furnishings of the suite are entirely complete, the Hoover vacuum sweeper has not been forgotten. This, with its attachments is on hand for demonstration and inspection. Mr. White, who is the official demonstrator of the Hoover sweeper at Pendroy's, will preside over this useful article in his usual able and efficient manner.

The Pendroy booth is immediately adjoining the stage in the center. It will command the attention of all who attend the exposition, both because of its exceptional character, and because of its advantageous position.

CONTINUOUS RADIO ENTERTAINMENT AT NEWTON BOOTH

Complete Line of Equipment to Be Shown

A continual radio concert will be heard over one of the receiving sets to be displayed at the exhibit of the Newton Electric Company, 154 South Brand Boulevard, placed with the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition.

This booth, which will offer a complete array of radio apparatus of the Radio Corporation of America, will include a large number of sets. Among these will be the Radiola 4, 5 and 6, the Western Airiola senior, the Airiola Amplifier, the Radiola Loop, and the Radiola R. C. Demonstration will be made by Pearson Taylor, as to the proper use of each.

The receiving set which will tune in the different concerts, will be connected with the electric light wiring. This will not interfere with the demonstration of the other sets, it was stated.

Aside from the radio equipment, a large display of electrical goods will be shown at this booth.

MAYORESS HAS WETS ON JUMP

[By Associated Press]

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 24.—Mrs. Ethel Stoner, who has gained a reputation as mayor of Cokeville, Wyo., was a recent Salt Lake visitor. While here, she explained how she accomplished the task of transforming Cokeville from a "wild and wooly" place into a "Sunday school" town.

Next month Mrs. Stoner will retire from office after having served one year. In Cokeville they elect a mayor for twelve months only and she was not a candidate for re-election.

ALASKA NOW LAND OF CONSERVATIVES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. (United Press).—Alaska, that place up north President Harding is going to make famous back east this summer by visiting, is no longer the land of rovers and gold seekers it once was. It is becoming a territory of homes, good women and progress.

Such is the vision of the great northern territory, Colonel William B. Greeley, chief forester of the United States, outlined here in a talk. "Alaska is now a land of real people," says Col. Greeley. "The ones who succeed up there now are those who go to stay and work.

"Eighteen per cent of the people filed income tax returns, compared to 7, 8 and 9 per cent, the average in the States," he declared. The visit of President Harding augurs well for Alaska, he believes, as it will center more attention on the territory, and give people an intelligent idea of the great northland.

HOUSEKEEPING SHOP BOOTH SURPRISE

Possible to Acquire Fine New Stove by Writing Signature

Listen, Mrs. Housekeeper!

Are you in need of a new gas range? Lean your ear this way and you hear a big secret made public.

The Good Housekeeping Shop at 140 South Brand Boulevard is making it possible for some fortunate person to become the owner of a fine all white enamel stove, through the mere agency of signing the name.

This shop is to have one of the most interesting booths for the housewife, at the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition. Here each visitor will be given a card to sign. At a later date, one of these names will be drawn, and someone will automatically become the possessor of the much coveted range.

Aside from this feature of the exhibit, the Good Housekeeping shop is to give an actual demonstration with three or four different makes of washing machines. The clothes will be put through the entire process of laundering, showing the usefulness of the electric washing machine.

Food will also be baked in the gas ovens, and a demonstration of the Westgate electric cooker will also be made. There will be, in addition, several makes of vacuum cleaners for demonstration purposes. One of the newest model refrigerators will also be shown.

RADKE BOOTH HAS FINE DISPLAY OF CUT GLASS

Special Demonstrator of L. A. Made Dollapoint Pencils

A sparkling display of cut glass and silverware will greet the eyes of thousands of exposition goers as they pass the booth of the Radke Jewelry store, whose place of business is located at 1093 South Brand Boulevard.

Gorham sterling silver, Hawke's cut glass, 1847 Rogers' and Community, will be artistically arranged. These are some of the most popular makes in silver, and the patterns shown will be both new and tasteful.

Ed. Radke, proprietor, announces that a special demonstration of the "Dollapoint" pencil will be made at the exhibit. This pencil, which is made in Los Angeles, is said to be making competition keen for all other pencils on the market. The points in its construction will be thoroughly explained.

Some of the cities will send three and four bands.

N. Y. QUERY CLUB TO TRAVEL IN WEST

NEW YORK, May 24.—Travelling in special Pullman cars, the New York Query club, a social organization of union printers, will set out from this city, July 26, to see that part of the world lying west of New York and east of the Pacific shore line.

The tourists will see Niagra Falls, most of the larger cities of the middle west, Yellowstone park, Denver, Salt Lake and will pay a visit to the Union Printers home at Colorado Springs.

HOUDINI ATTACKS GHOSTS

OAKLAND, May 25 (United Press).—An attack on Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's theories of spooks and communication with the dead was made by ghostly means here, when Harry Houdini, noted magician, talked via radio, telling secrets of the spirit photographs. Radio, bearing the expose through the air filled with so-called spirits, gave new kink to denials of Conan Doyle's beliefs.

BELLEHURST PARK BOOTH ADDS BIG INTEREST

Great Subdivision Soon to Pass Into History to Be Shown

Bellehurst Park has an exhibit at the industrial exhibition that will be of great interest to any citizen of Glendale who has at heart the future growth of this northern section of the city.

In the rapid growth of Glendale the finest residence sections have developed to the north and for the past few years the Bellehurst Ranch owned by the Thom family, has been the most coveted portion of the city. Solidly built up blocks of fine dwellings have sprung up on the very boundaries of the property and as soon as the news of the subdivision of this old estate was made known, the rush of Glendale people to acquire choice locations was phenomenal even in this city of rapid expansion.

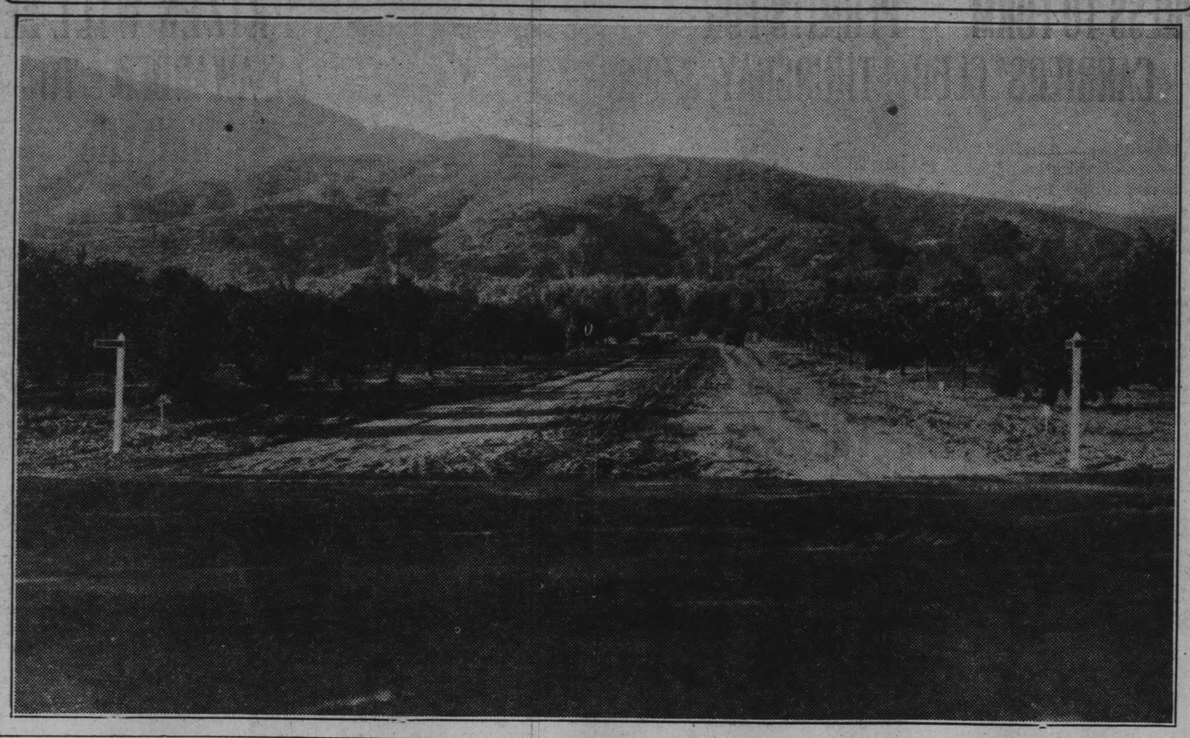
Today the upper portion of Bellehurst Park is for sale by the Walter H. Leimert Co. This part of the tract includes the hillslopes and level uplands along the base of the majestic Verdugo mountains. The first unit is entirely sold out, and much of the remaining portion as well according to the books of the Walter H. Leimert Co. but there is still a good range of choice for the discerning homeseeker or investor.

Hillside land around Los Angeles is surprisingly limited and it will ultimately command simply fabulous prices according to lessons taught by such cities as San Francisco, Oakland and others on this coast as well as in the East.

The booth of the Walter H. Liemert Co. at the present exposition will repay anyone for a visit at this particular time, as the entire property will soon be sold out judging by the present rate of demand.

The station master on an East Indian railroad had been given strict orders not to do anything out of the ordinary without orders from the superintendent. This accounts for the following telegram sent by him: "Superintendent's office, Calcutta. Tiger on platform eating conductor. Wire instructions."

Street and Foothill Scene in Bellehurst



Listening in on Eve

THE CHAUFFEUR

"It's worse than annoying," said the worried young matron, slapping the speaking tube of her handsome new limousine petulantly against her gloved palm. "My young sister has had her fads, I'll admit, like any other flapper, but this is the first time she's ever gone so far. Engaged to the chauffeur, indeed!"

"You certainly can't laugh that off," said the girl beside her in the car. "I wish he'd turn around. I'd like to see the marvel."

"Oh, he's attractive enough," said the young matron in an exasperated tone. "And Maria Dolores declares he's positively the only amusing man she's met since she was 16. She seems in earnest about it. When she first began this ridiculous flirtation—you know he actually thinks she's a housemaid—we all thought it was rather a joke. But since she's been talking matrimony—turn to the left, Archibald!" she finished into the speaking tube.

"Why doesn't he turn his head? I'd like to get a look at him." The girl shifted her position in an attempt to see the chauffeur's profile.

"Oh, he's well trained," said the young matron. "Quite the best man we've ever had. That's what makes it so maddening. He's simply made himself indispensable, and heaven only knows where we'll get another man like him. Maria Dolores threatened to elope with him on the spot if we dismissed him, or revealed her identity." She put the tube to her lips. "The next corner, Archibald."

The car swooped on the turn like a majestic bird, with the ease of perfect mechanism.

"This is a wonderful car."

"Yes, Archibald picked it out for us. He knows more about cars in two minutes than anybody in our family will ever learn. The only thing I don't like about it is this tube. I never know whether he hears me or not. And there's no way for him to answer. As I was saying, she seems determined to marry him, and how she will get along as a chauffeur's wife is difficult to imagine. She hasn't a cent of her own."

"How did the thing ever start?" asked the girl.

"Well, you know Maria Dolores and her penchant for escapades! She saw him one day in the park. Even though he would probably turn out to be a plumber, she said she just had to talk to him. They struck up an acquaintance and she told him she was our housemaid. When she found out he was a chauffeur out of a job, she bullied us into giving him a trial. And he surely is a treasure as a chauffeur. I don't fancy him as a brother-in-law, however. Stop at the Peach Bloom Club, Archibald."

"Well, maybe I'll get a chance to see him now," said the girl. "I never did see anybody keep his head so persistently straight before him."

The car came to a halt. The young chauffeur bounded out and jumped to the door of the club in an astonishingly unservant like manner.

"What's the matter with him?" gasped the young matron. "Archibald! Archibald!"

"Archibald, my eye!" exclaimed the girl. "That's my cousin, Henry Jenkins. Let me get out of this car. Henry! Henry!"

The young man returned slowly, a beet-like color dyeing his engaging features.

"Feed me carbolic acid!" begged the girl. "Cousin Henry! What next? Heloise, you can put your mind at rest about your sister Maria Dolores. Henry Jenkins is worth half a million if he's worth a dime. And you can't laugh that off."

"Sister!" echoed the irresistible chauffeur indignantly. "You mean to tell me that Marie Dolores isn't a housemaid!" He glowered at both of them as if they had been responsible for the young woman's occupation. "You mean to tell me that I've been masquerading as a demon driver for nothing? You mean to tell me that that girl has been making a clown out of me? You mean to tell me that innocent little thing has been deceiving me? My golly, I gotta go and call that girl up, and——"

"Oh no, Archibald," said the young matron smiling sweetly. "Remember, you're my chauffeur. You can wait, Archibald, until we come out."

And she sailed gayly up the steps of the Peach Bloom Club followed by his grinning cousin for luncheon and an afternoon of bridge.

CHIN GEE HEE, ONCE LABORER, HEADS ROAD

New President of Chinese Railroad was S. P. Construction Hand

[By Associated Press]

SEATTLE, Wash., May 25.—Marches and clashings of the opposing armies in China have not ditsurbed the serenity of Chin Gee Hee, one time track laborer, laundryman and merchant in Seattle and now president of the Sun Ning railway, greatest in South China, say Seattle friends who have kept in touch with the "Chinese Jim Hill."

Despite his 78 years, Chin Gee Hee remains actively at the head of the various enterprises which have earned for him the sobriquet "King of South China" since his return to his native country from the Pacific coast in 1905.

The Sun Ning railway, first in China to be constructed by Chinese capital independent of aid from any government, is the fruit of a dream that came to Chin Gee Hee 60 years ago when, as a common laborer, he aided in the construction of a branch line of the Southern Pacific in California. Two years before he had begun life as a laborer in the California gold fields.

Chin Gee Hee held to his vision. In the seventies he went north and worked on the construction of the old Columbia and Puget Sound railway, now a part of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul system. It was not long before he became a contractor in a small way, using Chinese labor, and by the time the road was completed he had acquired some capital.

In the early eighties Cin Gee Hee established a small laundry here, branching out as a merchant in partnership with Chin Ching Hock. Following this venture, he founded the Qong Tuck company, a mercantile establishment still in business under the direction of his nephew, Chin Keay.

The fire of 1889 which destroyed the business section of the city took Chin Gee Hee's store along with the rest, but before the ruins were cold he had started the construction of the first brick building erected in Seattle after the fire. It still stands.

During the anti-Chinese riots of 1886, Chin Gee Hee was ordered from the city by a mob, but remained under the protection of a small group of residents.

The erstwhile track worker kept in mind the project of an independent railroad for China and through the influence of Seattle friends attracted the notice of James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad. Mr. Hill advised him from his own experience and invited him to make a trip as his guest over the principal lines of the United States. In 1905 Chin Gee Hee returned to China and shortly thereafter the construction of the Sun Ning railway was begun.

Railway men have praised the construction of the road—built without the help of a single foreigner—as one of the finest pieces of engineering work in the orient.

Decorated by the late Chinese emperor, Chin Gee Hee retained the confidence of his country's leaders after the change in government. The road is protected by a special guard of soldiers from the Canton army.

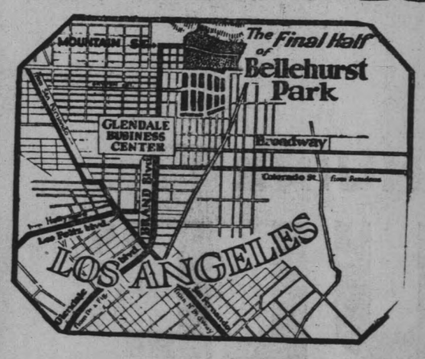
it's melting away

Beautiful
Bellehurst Park



Hour by hour—day by day—YOUR OPPORTUNITY to get a choice location in this unique and matchless property is VANISHING AWAY.

And when it is GONE, as it surely will be—and that SOON—where can you find ANYTHING LIKE IT in all Southern California?

Where can you find elevated, level, fertile, at-the-base-of-the-mountains property covered with wonderful old shade trees and 20-year-old orange and olive groves?

Where can you find such property FIVE MINUTES from the center of a 40,000 city like Glendale, growing with wildfire rapidity, doubling in population in TWO YEARS' TIME? Where can you find such NATURAL wonder features COMBINED with carefully worked out protective restrictions—a combination that is destined to make this Southern California's "finest residential park"?

Where can you find a safer and quicker-profit investment than in this edge-of-the-mountains property, CLOSER in time than Hollywood or Beverly; even more beautiful, at ONE-THIRD the price—NOW? (Lots of FLAT land; ONLY A LITTLE elevated land, like this!)

Where can you find any better transportation—any finer surroundings—any more attractive schools, churches, business centers, than RIGHT HERE, all around this wonderful 200-acre old estate in the HEART of Glendale?

Is it surprising, considering the sensational desirability of this property that "it's just melting away"—sales approaching a million and a half—and the rush still on?

Remember, beautiful spacious restricted sites as low as $1800 on easy terms.

Big Day Saturday Has Been Arranged for by the Church and Sunday School Members for Old And Young

Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, hnudreds of Burbank children and adults, with their faces and necks and back of their ears washed, will assemble for a regular day at picnicing. Three trucks and a thousand, more or less, autos will be outside the church doors ready to take all the church members and their friends to Brookside park, Pasadena.

Every child, that is the first 200 small ones, will be given a balloon by W. A. Young, of the Young Dry Goods store. The auto ride starts a day full of fun for everybody.

A committee for providing enormous quantities of salad, cake, ice cream, sandwiches, pink lemonade, beans, fruit, vegetables, weiners, candy, peanuts, popcorn and gum has been faithfully running about the town digging up every known good cook and enlisting her in the cause.

Another committee on games and contests, Miss Elizabeth Smith in charge, has spent the week inventing new games and listing old ones. They have secured 1½ dozen prizes for winners in the fat man's race, the slim girl's race and all the various contests they have listed. There will be aquatic events, with swimming, diving and fancy stunts of every known variety open to the general public.

There will be two baseball games in the afternoon. Girls have challenged the boys. The boys will have to wear skirts provided them by the girls in order to qualify for the game. Another baseball game will be between the married men and the single with most of the bets on the hitting percentage of the married men being higher.

It is to be quite a grand event from start to finish. Everybody has promised the pastor, Rev. Stevenson to be present at Sunday school at 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS TO DINE MONDAY

Poppy Day is to come Wednesday, so Mommy is to have a particular little affair of her own on Monday. Every mother and daughter in Burbank is invited to the community "mothers' and daughters' banquet" at the Methodist church Monday night.

A few years ago a lady chaperoned some Burbank girls on a camping trip. From that time on her motto has been, "Help the Girls." Every time since then, when a Fathers' and Sons' banquet has been given in Burbank, she has said "No use to show interest in boys unless you show interest in girls. Give the girls a banquet, too, and have a closer relationship between mothers and daughters."

So at last the girls and their mothers are all to meet at one long table and talk over their interests together. The Girl Scouts and the Campfire Girls are to do the decorating.

Miss Soper of Glendale, daughter of missionaries who spent more than 40 years in Japan, will be the out-of-town speaker. Songs and talks are to make it an evening that will equal the very chummy banquet of the fathers and sons just held this week.

SCHOOLS HAVE MEMORIAL DAY EXERCISES

Memorial services were held at all the schools today. At the John Muir school, Duncan Forsyth, president of the school board, addressed the children. He told of the differences between the schools of today and those of the past.

Comrades of the G. A. R. also spoke. The children were very delighted with the entire program. The Chaplain of a Post in Los Angeles made a very fine address and the patriotic instructor for the state, C. R. Morton, was chairman of the day. Commander of the Glendale G. A. R. post, T. M. Barrett, spoke. Following his talk the children sang the chorus of the song "Marching Through Georgia," led by Comrade R. N. Taylor, who sang the verses.

Comrade C. H. Clark, orator of the Post, spoke for five minutes concerning the constitution. Comrade G. W. Sanford, poet of the post, recited two poems, written by himself, "Building" and "Three Boys in the Army."

Comrades F. S. Fuller, W. J. Collins and J. A. Thayor spoke very briefly. The Girls' Chorus under the direction of the supervisor, Miss Freyburger, sang "Flag of Stars."

At the High school the comrades spoke as did also Baroness deRopp. The baroness contrasted the opportunities of America with Russia and urged that the children cherish the traditions and customs of America.

Her experiences of her life in Russia and experiences of relatives there formed the basis of her very instructive and entertaining talk.

BATTLE OF LITTLE THREE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. (United Press).—Interest in coast baseball circles is focusing on the coming court battle June 13 of the Big Five and Little Three of the Pacific Coast League.

The Little Three, which so suddenly became the conquering power at the recent meeting here, with President William H. McCarthy winner in the fight for control, will be tested in court. The Big Five, the plaintiffs, are seeking to compel McCarthy to recognize Charles Lockard of the Seattle Club, which he recently purchased, as a director. McCarthy will demand to know where Lockard got the money to buy the club, which he says came from Wrigley, owner of the Angels.

WILD HORSE RODEO

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. (United Press).—Wild horses and wild riders will feature the first annual Marin County Rodeo and Horse Show to be held at the Kentfield Stadium, Sunday afternoon, June 3.

Some of the stunts on the program promise to be delights in mirth as well as thrills. Ex-mayor S. K. Herzon of San Rafael, who weighs 200 pounds, will race any man of his weight in the county. Sonoma County Sheriff John M. Boyes challenges any other sheriff in the state to a horse race. "Shorty," Hank Weber's famous pile of horseflesh, the only one that ever crossed the Sierras on snowshoes, will be on exhibition.

Young Murphy came home with a black eye and breathing threats against some person unnamed.

"Phwat's th' matter wid ye?" asked his father. "Who's that ye're currsin'?"

"Sure, young Finnigan; he's been afther blackin' me eye, and I'll do fur 'im yit, I will."

"Ah, now, none o' that. Don't bear malius. Here, take this bit o'apple tart to him and tell him he licked ye fairly and ye're good friends wid 'im."

Murphy went off with the tart, and half an hour later returned from his peace-making errand with his other eye blackened and his nose bleeding.

"An' phwat is ut now?"

"Och, he bate me cruel and said, 'Now off home wid ye and bring me a custard tomorrow!'"

Turnips and beets are improved by adding one or two tablespoons of sugar when cooking.

PRESS TO FORM CARRIERS' CLUB

The Press will form a News Carriers organization among the Burbank Press Boys. Mr. MacCoubrey will have charge of all the welfare activities that have been arranged for them.

There will be a baseball team, picnics at the beach and parties at Glendale for all Press Carriers. There will be prizes for the boy with the least complaints, prizes for the boys who gives the best services and all sorts of rewards for them.

The boys are to be put on a salary and everything will be done to encourage loyalty to the paper and to the customers so that the boys will be happy and also the customers.

Any boys who want work and who want to belong to the organization are asked to stop at the Press' office and see if they can qualify for the positions open.

GIRL BABIES EXCEED BOYS IN MAY

The merry month of May has favored the suffrage question in Burbank, for recorded in City Clerk Webster's office thus far are the births of eleven girls while there are only six boys' names on the books.

The last ones filed at the office follow: Harriet Elizabeth Thomas, born May 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas, 1829 Arapahoe street, Los Angeles; Frank Masas Yammani, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hanslichi Yamani, Los Angeles, born May 23; Nehl Koutz, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Nehl Koutz, Burbank.

To keep sponges in good condition you should occasionally wash them in warm water with a little tartaric acid or soda, afterward rinsing in clean warm water.

SAVE THE CHICKEN RANCHES FROM BURNING

The Burbank fire department was called out early Thursday morning to "Bigger Acres." A brush blaze, starting from the sparks of a passing Southern Pacific train, alarmed the neighborhood. Chicken ranches adjoining on all sides of the patch of tall dry weeds were saved from fire by the efficient work of the firemen.

Fires are scarce in Burbank, but this is the second one in two days, the one the day before was not so easily subdued, said Fire Chief Davis, for he spaded the brush fire out, but he could not use the spade on the beans that were burned in his quarters in the city hall.

ENTERTAIN FOR HOUSE GUESTS

Rev. and Mrs. Allen are entertaining Mr. Allen's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davis of San Francisco for a few weeks. Today the Allens and their house guests and Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Skeen and Mrs. Sharp drove to Artesia to spend the day.

They will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Winterberg.

PORTLAND MAKES LEIS FOR HONOLULU FOLK

PORTLAND, May 25. (United Press).—Carrying coal to Newcastle has been for many years the aphorism for wasted effort. But that perhaps sometimes it may be done profitably is shown by an usual shipment of merchandise from Portland.

A local firm manufacturing paper novelties has just shipped to San Francisco, for trans-shipment to Honolulu, a consignment of paper leis. The leis is the long necklace, usually made of flowers, and worn by the native beach beauties of the islands of the southern seas, and incidentally placed on the tourists.

The Portland concern reports a ready and profitable market for their paper leis in the Hawaiian Islands.

PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED TO WINNERS

Seventy Pupils Take Final Examination in Music

Pupils who wrote the final examination in the Music memory contest, seventy in all, are eagerly waiting the announcement of the winners of prizes which will be made this evening at the Edison school building. A final concert of five numbers given by five exceptionally fine musicians will mark the close of the contest.

Through an error in the printing of the program the names of Mrs. W. E. Kirkpatrick vocalist, and her accompanist, Miss Frances Colburn, were omitted. Mrs. Kirkpatrick is to be fourth on the program. She will sing "Land of the Sky Blue Water" (Cadman) and "Russian Snow Song" (Herman Lohr). It is a treat to hear both vocalist and accompanist.

Mrs. Zefer Algott Sparrow will be the other Burbank soloist. She will play two numbers that were on the Music Memory contest. Her numbers will be "Hark, Hark, the Lark," and "Prelude in C. Sharp Minor."

The Southern California Music company through the courtesy of the Burbank Music shop is sending out three fine artists, a pianist, violinist and harp and Chickering Ampico Grand piano for the evening.

Clyde Gates, Charles King and Nicholas Devereux who have played in concert tours in the east and west will be present. The concert is open to the public and a large attendance is expected.

Every music lover in Burbank who is interested in seeing children develop music interests and every one musically inclined will enjoy the program.

Forty-one girls and twenty-nine boys took the final examination. There were many very excellent ones and a few poor papers. Twenty selections were chosen.

BONDED INDEBTEDNESS OF LOS ANGELES LIMITED TO $135,000,000

Why do we issue bonds every time we make a civic improvement? Because there never is cash enough on hand. The Reason? Because the community is not allowed to claim its own rightful wealth: the land values caused by their own coming and settling—AND BY NOTHING ELSE.

If municipalities could tax into their public treasuries the land values which are licked up by land profiteers, never a bond would we need when we build fire-stations, schools and city halls. How much cheaper and more direct to pay cash and avoid interest when we make public improvements, and how many we could afford if we only had the whole profit on land to put into public utilities! And no need of any other kind of taxes at all!

Play of a Suit Hand

One of the best tests of a player's skill is the ability he displays in handling a trump hand. It is impossible to lay down any general rules for play by the declarer of a trump declaration. When a suit is established, the trumps should be led. When there is a short weak suit in the dummy, it usually is advisable to try to trump your losing cards in the weak hand. This cannot be done if trumps be led. These two general rules help; but each hand usually is a problem in itself, and only experience and careful study will be of much value. As a general rule it is preferable to establish a strong suit than to try for a ruff. Be very careful about leading trumps when there is an established suit against you. If trumps are gone and your opponents gain the lead, they will make the established suit. Hold your trumps, under such conditions.

Probably the mistake most often made by the novice is his eagerness to use up the trumps in the strong hand. Where you needlessly use up the trumps in the strong hand you reduce your ability to draw opponents' trumps, to establish your own suit, and to be left with the controlling trump, which should be the declarer's game.

When your opponents are clearly about to trump your good cards, take one or more leads at once. When you have the high trumps, this is easy; but in case the Ace is against you, try a little strategy. Holding a sequence, lead the lowest card. The adversary on the left may pass it on the first round, thereby enabling you to obtain two leads.

If you hold two losing trumps and there are two out against you, never lead trumps unless you can go game if the two trumps against you chance to be divided. Such a situation is dangerous, for, if the two trumps are both in one hand, you may never take another trick. This situation always should be studied very carefully. It sometimes is worth while to lead the losing trump when holding a set-up suit in dummy and only one re-entry card.

Be careful about over-trumping opponents. Do so when your hand is weak and your trumps are low. More often, however, it is better to discard, especially if the trump required to over-trump is the commanding trump. The high trump is bound to make, and you will probably gain a trick by discarding a suit that you can trump later with a small trump, and still retain control of the big trump.

Re-entry cards are absolutely necessary for making an established suit; otherwise, the suit is of no value. To retain a re-entry card in the proper hand, it often is necessary to retain the high trump in the hand containing the set-up-suit. Frequently a small trump, a four or five, may be a re-entry for a set-up-suit either in dummy or declarer's own hand, if the declarer was careful to retain a deuce or trey of trumps in the other hand.

Sometimes the declarer has a number of winning trumps and one losing card. By leading the trumps the opponents may make an error in discarding and so make the losing card good. If dummy hold the King of a suit in which the declarer has a singleton, he should lead it at once. There is a much better chance to make the King then, than later. Always force discards, however, on winning trumps, before leading a suit of six or more cards in the combined hands.

There are numerous hands where it is of great advantage to throw the lead. This occurs when the declarer must lose certain tricks, and he arranges the play so that he can lose such tricks at an advantage to himself. Such plays are of particular advantage when there are only a few cards remaining to be played. Under such conditions throwing the lead makes possible certain very pretty end plays, which are the delight of the expert and the despair of the novice. There is only one general rule of any value, in this situation. When it is impossible to lead a suit yourself and get the best results, try to force your opponents to do it for you. Such plays often result in pretty end plays.

The Once Over

THE COLORED BOOT CRAZE

Ladies' shoes are being colored like Easter eggs this season. Brilliant and dazzling tones in footwear, with red predominating, are the rage.

* * *

The idea evidently is to make the feet as conspicuous as possible, although the less seen of most of them the better.

In the good old days a young woman whose feet were nothing to brag about had sense and delicacy enough to encase them in plain black brogans and teach them to be neither seen nor heard. Today a girl with an 8-DD foot adorns it with a boot no eye could possibly skip.

Her low visibility is a knockout.

Shoe-store clerks are obliged to wear dark glasses. They are threatening to walk out on the cash customers unless the manufacturers of gay and gaudy footwear put a set of dimmers on each pair.

Up to this season a shoe clerk had a soft job. All he had to do was to smile sweetly, ask "Black or tan, madam?" shake a nimble can of foot-ease, and take the ankle census. Today he has to be a color specialist. He has to know more about pigments than Sargent.

Thousands of shoe salesmen who have been years with the firm had to be let out last month. It was discovered for the first time that they were color blind.

* * *

"What color will you have?" asks the modern shoe clerk, as milady comes in for fresh blacksmithing.

"What colors have you today?" she asks.

"We have orchid, orange, carmine, violet, American Beauty, Nile green, lavender, purple, violet, taupe, aquamarine, chrome, yellow, cherry and Alice blue...."

"Haven't any new colors come in since yesterday?" she asks, peevishly.

"We have some exquisite Copenhagen blues that came in this morning," he says, "but I wouldn't advise you to buy them, as they are apt to be out of style by tomorrow noon."

Size and shape used to have something to do with shoe selections, but today what a woman wants above all else is a boot that becomes her complexion.

Naturally, red predominates. These are very razmattazz. They give the impression the wearer is standing with each foot in a Stutz racer.

Brilliant greens are running second. When you see a Sweet Creature coming down the street in a pair of these your first impression is that she is dragging a golf course fairway or putting-green along with her.

* * *

According to rumors, men's shoes will soon be similarly gaudy. The ice man soon may be loping around in crimson "dogs," the butcher in mauve shoes, and the milkman in red, white, and blue Oxfords.

* * *

It looks like a rich, dizzy, and colorful season from the ankles down.

The slogan seems to be "Hot Dogs!"

Also "Sizzling Sandals!"

TEXAS

During the last presidential campaign the writer heard a prominent Washington official make the statement that as a result of the Mexican war Texas became free. A few facts regarding the actual fortunes of Texas in the early days will show that the Lone Star State was free ten years before it was annexed to the United States.

By the treaty of 1819 with Spain the Sabine river was established as the southwestern boundary of the United States. In 1821, two years later, Mexico established its independence of Spain. By 1830 there were 20,000 Americans living in Texas, and President Bustomante of Mexico gave forth an edict that no more American immigration would be allowed, and that Texas should be under the rule of the Roman Catholic Province of Coahulia.

Although the Texans petitioned to have their own local government they were refused and confronted with troops sent from Mexico City to make them obey the Mexican mandate. On March 2, 1836, Texas declared its independence and Santa Ana invaded the new republic, committing the crime of the Alamo, but being finally defeated at the San Jacinto river. There were then 50,000 Americans out of a population of 68,000 in the little republic, and Sam Houston, who fought in the War of 1812, and who was an ex-governor of Tennessee, became president.

In 1827 John Quincy Adams offered a million dollars to Mexico for this territory. President Andrew Jackson twice offered (in 1829 and in 1835) five million dollars for the territory. President Jackson refused later during his administration to annex Texas. During Van Buren's administration the matter rested dormant. Then Harrison and Tyler were elected. Harrison died and was succeeded by Tyler, who, three days before he left office, March 1, 1845, signed the bill for the annexation of Texas to the United States.

$15 LIMIT PUT ON GRADUATION DRESSES

Girls in the East Are Setting the Pace for Economy

By FREDDA HOYT
Fashion Editor of the United Press
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, May 25.—Dear Miss Hoyt:

I wish you would tell me what sort of a graduation dress I can get for $15 that will be girlish and pretty. I am finishing high school this June and haven't been able to find anything made of good material for that amount in the stores. I am tall and slender and have bobbed hair. Both mother and I sew fairly well. Thanking you in advance,

GENEVIEVE VAN H.,
Brooklyn, N. Y.

Well, Genevieve, if you are tall and slender and about 18 years old, you should be pretty in anything. Especially in a white graduation dress with the happy anticipation of the future in your young eyes.

How about a dress of crisp, white organdie with a full skirt and simple blouse, trimmed with a bertha, edged in valenciennes lace? No sleeves are necessary in such a dress, as the bertha extends over the shoulders. The skirt can be trimmed at intervals with fluffy wheels of shirred lace. A sash of moire ribbon can finish the low waistline, with its ends falling to the hem of the skirt. This dress could be made for $15, I am sure.

Possibly you'd prefer a dress of white georgette with a knife-pleated skirt and simple bodice pecoted about the rounding neck and the short sleeves. Or you could carry out the pleating effect by a pleated bertha and thus do away with the sleeve idea. This frock would be pretty with a sash of satin ending in a huge bow on the left side with ends falling to the hem. Satin ribbon is quite expensive so you could buy satin by the yard and have it hemmed or pecoted about the edges.

RUFFLES ARE POPULAR

Ruffles are so girlish and are popular just now. Since you're slender why not have a ruffle dress of white organdie? Did you know that you can buy organdie with ruffles attached in skirt lengths by the yard? It isn't very expensive and you will need only two yards for the skirt, as the bodice should be kept very simple and be made of plain organdie. Hemstitched organdie is also very pretty and can be purchased by the yard. A corsage of pale organdie flowers would be lovely with the organdie dress and would add a permissible touch of color to the dull white graduation dress.

Crepe de chine makes a beautiful and serviceable dress for the summer days after graduation, as it can be tinted in colors and used as a dance frock. The simple crepe de chine gown is very popular this season and white is one of the season's best sellers. Of course, one could also have a pleated crepe de chine frock and this could be used as a sports frock later on if worn under a colorful jacquette.

SIMPLE AND GIRLISH

It should not be difficult to get a graduation dress for $15, if one makes it at home. Girls don't wear fussy graduation dresses as they used to. Any gown that looks girlish and simple is in good taste. A decade ago girls needed so many accessories for the graduation gown, such as long white gloves, fans, flowers, etc. Dress, white shoes and white silk stockings are all that the average girl requires today, with the exception of pretty underwear that most girls can make so cheaply at home.

The graduation dress should be about ten inches from the floor. Stockings for the young miss should not be too sheer. The face should not be rouged or made-up unless one is extremely pale, as nothing is prettier than a natural looking girl in a crisp white gown.

As the late party-goer opened the door he saw a man wearing a burglar's mask kneeling before the safe. The next moment the man had turned and placed the revolver at the other's head.

"Throw up your hands," cried the intruder.

With the meekness of a lamb and the speed of an express train, he obeyed.

"You understand," remarked the man pleasantly, "that I can, in the present circumstances, loot the premises at my pleasure."

"I do."

"You realize that you are at my mercy?"

"I do.'

"Well, then," cried the masked man, "you will be interested to know that I got in through your dining room window without the slightest difficulty. Had it been equipped with Popson's patent burglar alarms this could not have happened. Installed complete, with battery, $25. Allow me to hand you a circular and to wish you the best of good evenings and all the pleasures of the season."

At the club vacation yarns were going around. There was a semi-circle drawn up in front of the fire.

"I fished with three hooks at a time," stated the man on one end. "Frequently I caught two fish at a time, sometimes three, and I don't want any alleged humor about it, either. It's the truth."

The man at the other end said he didn't doubt it.

"In fact," he went on to say, "I have seen it done. Now my case was quite different.

"Well, what was your case?"

"The fish knew I had bait and they just jumped into the boat."

Joan is not an angel. She is just a good child with a sweet, sunny disposition. But on those few-and-far between occasions when she is naughty she is punished. Her mother always tries to make the punishment serve as a lesson, and although Joan is only four she always sees the moral.

On a recent occasion when she had been in mischief, mother prepared to apply the much-needed lesson. Her indulgent father protested vigorously that he would not have his baby's tender feelings hurt by punishment.

Little Joan settled the matter herself.

Turning somewhat impatiently to her champion, she said:

"Now, daddy, you don't understand. Mother is trying to make me a good girl when I grow up."

PRETTY MAIDS AT FERBER'S SHOW OF FASHIONS

New Department Store Opens Dainty Booth at Exposition

One of the most interesting features to both men and women—the Fashion Show—which is to take place at the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition on Saturday and Wednesday evenings, displaying afternoon dresses, graduation frocks, and sports clothes from Ferber's department store, 108 South Brand, is expected to attract wide attention.

A bevy of pretty young maids and matrons have been secured to appear, and also a group of children will form the children's fashion revue. Miss Ruth Stokes, who has just recently returned from New York, is in charge of the arrangements for the fashion revue.

Those who will participate in the showing of these attractive dresses are the Misses Betty Noble, Florence Little, Audrey Haynes, Betty Carr, Florence Carr, Mary Chapman, Marian Jones, Mrs. M. McGuire and Mrs. Harry H. Jernegan. The children who will appear are Elizabeth Haviland, Mary Ellen Fittengen, Geraldine Fittengen, Marguerite Steelman, Margaret Smith, Betty Jane Menk, Etta May Swuim, and Jenesta Cory.

The younger children will appear in chic summer frocks, ranging from fancy white organdies to the bingham play dresses. These models will appear at each fashion display to be given during the exposition by the various firms.

In California they are all boosters, which is proper enough, and have an answer for any emergency. After listening to the native decant on California for several hours, the tourist remarked: "Money must grow on trees out here."

"It does," was the reply.

"Heh?"

"Theres nothing more profitable than pecans and oranges,' was explained.

A SONG OF THE RADIO

Somewhere there are songs and singing,
There is music rare and sweet;
Somewhere there are echoes bringing
A harmony complete.
Somewhere there are vast tones swelling
In choruses glad and strong,
Like fountains of gladness welling,
"Tune in!" and hear the song.

Somewhere there are voices calling
To the highest soul of you,
Somewhere are the echoes falling
With harmonies rare and true;
Somewhere in the world above us,
About us and around,
Are the voices of souls that love us,
"Tune in!" and hear that sound.

Somewhere in the hearts of sorrow
Are calls for the help of you,
And all of the day and morrow,
And never the time is through
When sorrow has its yearning,
When sad hearts have their need,
Let your light of love be burning,
"Tune in!" that your heart may heed.

Give ear to the hidden singing,
To the voices low and sweet,
To the joy that love is bringing,
With harmonies complete.
Awake in thy sleeping spirit
The music dead for long,
And know where is Heaven or near it,
"Tune in!" and hear the song.

ZION PARK ON HARDING TRIP

[By Associated Press]

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 25.—President Harding's proposed western trip the latter part of next month will be cancelled only in the event that Mrs. Harding, because of the state of her health, cannot accompany him, according to United States Senator Reed Smoot of Utah. A trip to Zion National Park in southwestern Utah has been proposed by Senator Smoot for the presidential party.

No clothing should be put away, even for the night, without first removing all steel pins, as dampness may cause rust spots.

A man stopped a strange damsel on the setreet an dtold her she was the prettiest girl he had ever seen in his life. She was, indeed, beautiful. However, she haled him into court. There he unblushingly repeated his remark and challenged the judge to say if she wasn't the prettiest girl his honor had ever seen.

The judge contemplated her for a while and then said with a sigh: "I don't know what to do with this man. A police magistrate at $3000 per annum is no Solomon."

OCCIDENTAL GAS RANGE MAY BE MADE HERE

Type of Goods Shown by Elwood Company at Exposition

It is just another case of Mohammed going to the mountains, when the mountains would not come to him, according to the managers of the Elwood Gas Appliance company, of 227 East Broadway, who announce that the San Francisco manufacturers of the Occidental gas range are negotiating a branch factory site in Glendale.

This fact will make the booth of the Elwood company at the Glendale Merchants' Industrial Exposition, displaying the Occidental range and explaining the points of its construction, of particular interest to the people of Glendale.

A representative of the firm will be at the exhibit to receive those who wish to make acquaintance with this product, which is soon to become one of the home manufactures.
